WELCOME!

One character I've always loved is Corrie's Leanne. It's almost two decades since the gobby lass first blasted on to our screens as part of the rough and ready Battersby clan. In that time, we've certainly seen Leanne go through the mill – and the men – as she faced the dramas of Weatherfield!

We've also witnessed her hold down careers from newsagent to drug dealer, through exotic dancer to restaurateur – she's definitely a Jack of all trades, our Leanne! So it's great to see her get a big, fat, juicy plot now that she's pregnant with Steve McDonald's baby.

Jane Danson has always been one of the Street's stand-out stars, but the past couple of years have been a bit quiet for her alter ego, so I'm excited to watch the actress shine once more. And with the scene set for high drama, I want to see Leanne come out fighting when it all kicks off. Once a Battersby, always a Battersby!

FIRST WITH THE WEEK'S HOTTEST HEADLINES!

All hell breaks loose when the Platts assemble to bury Kylie this week – and Todd forces a shock confession out of Sarah over Callum's murder!

As the day of the funeral arrives, David is barely holding on to his sanity as he, Max and Lily prepare for their hardest goodbye – but the grieving husband is determined to do his late wife proud. Sarah, meanwhile, has discharged herself from hospital to be by her brother's side during this devastating day. However, it all goes wrong when Todd becomes certain it was David who murdered Callum – and the web of lies comes unspun.

IF NOT YOU, THEN WHO?

The drama begins when Sarah checks in at the florist's on the morning of the funeral, and Todd – who at this point is still convinced that Sarah killed Callum – reveals he's been covering for her by framing Jason's late dad Tony for the murder. In shock, Sarah swears blind that she's innocent.

HEARTBREAK & HIGH DRAMA AT KYLIE'S FUNERAL

David and Sarah are forced to confess all on Callum's murder as Kylie is laid to rest...

"Sarah is rocked by the idea that Todd thinks she's Callum's killer," explains Tina O'Brien, who plays Sarah. "She wasn't well at all when she spoke to Todd at Bethany's birthday party all those months ago.

“ONCE TODD THINKS DAVID IS THE KILLER, HE JUST CAN'T SEE PAST IT”

She never said outright that she killed Callum, but a lot of what she did say could easily be interpreted the wrong way. Still, she's massively shocked by what Todd thinks.”

When Sarah insists that she's innocent, Todd does believe her. However, he quickly realises there's a lot more to the story...

"Todd just jumps to a natural conclusion – again!" chuckles Tina. "If it wasn't Sarah, but Sarah knew all about it, then to Todd that means it must have been David. Todd also knows what David is like, and with that realisation, he gets lost in the fury of it all. Once Todd has it in his head that David is the killer, he just can't see past that."

David and his family pay their respects – before he makes a horrid discovery

» FROM PREVIOUS PAGE GOODBYE MY LOVE

It's a tinderbox of a situation, and as the mourners go into the church, emotions are running high. With Gail and Sarah by his side, David is able to get through the service – although little Max's touching eulogy leaves everyone in pieces.

But when David goes outside to look at the floral tributes that have been laid, he is horrified to see a wreath from the gang at the Dog & Gun. He kicks off, giving Todd a front-row seat to his violent temper. So as the Platts head back to the Street, Todd confronts David.

"Todd is like a dog with a bone – he just won't stop getting at David!” shares Tina. “He follows them to the house, accusing David of killing Callum and telling him that Jason left town because he thought his dad was a murderer. Sarah is so worried about what it might do to David, and she knows he would never betray Kylie by telling Todd the truth. Sarah can't take it, and in a blind panic she blurts out that David wasn't the killer – Kylie was!”

DEAD SECRET!

Todd reels as he takes in the news. There's no doubt he feels a lot more loyalty to Sarah than Kylie, so will he keep her secret?

“For Sarah, now she's said it out loud, part of her feels as though a weight has been lifted,” says Tina. “But she also feels guilty that she's told Todd, because Kylie was the one who saved Sarah. If Todd goes to the police, he'll land them all in it, and the family can't take any more blows. However, Todd is stunned, so when Sarah and David beg him not to tell the police, he says that he can't make any promises.”

Todd won't give it up once he thinks David is the murderer

“Keep your gob shut!”

Sarah tries to stop Todd from going to the police

While David and Sarah stew, it's been a trying time for the cast as they filmed Kylie's funeral, with the exit of co-star Paula Lane fresh in their minds.

"This story was heartbreaking to film," shares Tina. "David and Kylie had this amazing love story, and what happened is devastating. The Platts have been through a lot together and are so tight, and all of us love working with each other. So it's sad to have to say goodbye to Kylie, and to Paula too..."

HOW FAR WILL MACCA GO TO SILENCE GEMMA?

Wicked Macca arrives to put pressure on witness Gemma this week – and tries to force her to retract her statement concerning Kylie's stabbing.

Her account of what took place is bad news for Macca's brother, Clayton, the evil thug who killed Kylie. With her connections to the crowd at the Dog & Gun, Gemma is uniquely positioned to help the police get their man, and she wants to see justice for her murdered friend. But Macca's violent confrontation scares Gemma half to death – until help arrives in an unlikely form.

Craig, who was so ashamed by how he reacted during the incident with Kylie and Clayton, spots Macca threatening Gemma and pulls him off her. As she tries to recover, Craig calls the police and makes sure that Clayton's scumbag brother steers clear.

But while Gemma labels Craig a hero, will Macca take the warning and stay away?

Charity can see what kind of mood Cain is in after his row with Moira

CHARITY MAKES HER MOVE!

With Cain and Moira on the rocks, can she snare her ex?

Wicked Charity swoops in to bag her man this week – as Holly's drug addiction finally drives Cain and Moira apart.

Charity spots her chance when Cain discovers that Moira has hidden her daughter's relapse – and her own encounter with a dirty needle – from him. The scale of her betrayal hits Cain hard, and he tries to force Moira to choose between him and Holly. But when she refuses, he storms off to the pub, where he ends up with Charity...

"Cain is in a bit of a strop – actually a lot of a strop!" admits Jeff Hordley, who plays the reformed Dales villain. "Bailey is working behind the bar and winds Cain up, and he goes for him. Charity sees this, pulls Cain into the back room and demands that he tell her what's going on. At first he says he doesn't want to talk about it – but then he opens up."

Charity can't believe her luck when Cain explains that Moira lied about Holly being clean, and that she didn't tell him she'd fallen on a needle in the drug den and is taking PEP drugs to lessen the risk of contracting HIV. Charity is then delighted as Cain starts talking fondly about their past.

"He says to Charity, 'At least I knew who you were and there was a kind of honesty between us'," shares Jeff. "Cain feels so betrayed by Moira and the fact she's constantly lied to him. It hurts that there's no honesty."

Fuelled by booze and angst, Cain is clearly in a very vulnerable position – the sort of position that Charity has been waiting to find him in for ages. She'd love nothing more than to have her ex back and get shot of Moira for good, so it's no surprise that the pair end up kissing.

“CAIN SOON REALISES THAT HE'S DONE WRONG, AND THE NEXT DAY HE FEELS REGRET”

"Cain's a bit tiddy, and the kiss comes out of them having this heart-to-heart and opening up about their past," Jeff tells us. "By the time Chas comes in and finds them, Cain and Charity are laughing it off a little bit. But he soon comes round and realises that he's done wrong, and the next day he feels total regret."

With his marriage rocked to its foundations and Charity in possession of a secret that could finish it for good, things aren't looking good for Cain and Moira. But worse is round the corner when, just as Cain decides to fess up, James steps in to reveal that Cain stayed the night at the Woolpack...

CAIN KILLS JAMES?

Lives are at risk when the red mist descends...

James finds himself on Cain's hit list this week – after he tells Moira that her husband spent the night with ex-lover Charity.

The information is the final nail in the coffin for the Dingle marriage, as Moira orders Cain out of their home and out of her life. So when Cain spies James in the path of his car, he decides to exact his revenge in deadly fashion...

"It's a 'Cain of old' moment," says Jeff. "He spots James and sees red. After stewing on it all day, he gets more and more annoyed. So this is the moment when he decides he'll run James off the road!"

As Cain's car speeds towards him, it's a life-or-death moment for James – but it's also a huge turning point for the Dingle bad boy. Will he win Moira back?

"I definitely think he should try!" insists Jeff. "Moira is everything that Cain wants..."

GRANT BACK – TO SORT OUT THE FAMILY!

Sharon makes a secret call that brings him home...

Grant Mitchell is forced to return to Walford this week – upon hearing that Ben is missing and the family are on the brink of collapse.

Desperate Sharon secretly calls her ex-husband as she fears that worry over Ben is taking a deadly toll on ill Phil. The last time Grant was in the same room as his brother, he swore revenge on Phil over money owed to him. However, he can't abandon the clan when Sharon begs him to help – so can Grant put right what Phil is too sick to handle?

"Peggy's dead, Phil is dying and Sharon is overwhelmed – only Grant can sort this," says our Walford insider. "Given how toxic his relationship with Phil is right now, nobody would blame Grant for turning his back on the whole sorry affair. But he's Peggy's son, and Grant knows that nothing is as important as family. Whatever their differences, he won't let the Mitchells fail if he can do something to stop it."

However, it's interesting that the person who gets through to Grant is Sharon. Their marriage was a disaster, and Grant never forgave her for having an affair with Phil – but when they last saw each other, sparks flew. Sharon passed off their near-kiss as a moment of madness, though it's clear something remains between them. So how much is Grant's decision to return motivated by Sharon?

“GRANT WON'T LET THE MITCHELLS FAIL IF HE CAN DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT”

She's in clear distress when she calls him as the desperate situation at home gets worse. Ben is missing, having sworn to murder those responsible for Paul's death, and Kathy has suggested calling the police. But Sharon knows the consequences for Ben if the cops get involved, and also what that could do to Phil – so she turns to Grant.

"The Mitchells sort out their own problems," declares our spy. "Sharon is determined to do things the way Phil wants them to be done – but when she comes face to face with Grant, it's obviously a highly Sharon is desperate to get some support for ailing Phil...

...but there is that little matter of her 'moment' with Grant

On my own!

GRANT ONLY JUST MADE IT TO HIS MUM'S FAREWELL...

The last time we saw Grant, he was watching from the sidelines at Peggy's funeral – and there's a good reason he stayed on the periphery.

"When the rest of the cast shot that episode, I was down a mine in Mongolia!" laughs star Ross Kemp, who was making a documentary while the scenes were filmed. "So I did it on my own – I had to look at a tree with an orange piece of tape on it and bawl my eyes out. I was looking at a tree, pretending my TV mother was being buried!"

But on his return this week, Ross will have a far bigger role.

"They didn't just give me a few lines," he laughs. "They gave me so many lines!"

charged moment. Can they sweep their history under the carpet and join forces to stop Ben from making a life-changing mistake?"

Of course, Phil isn't going to be happy that Grant is back, and he's in no condition to manage his brother's volatile behaviour. He'll also be less than pleased at the notion of Grant spending time with Sharon! But with Ben AWOL and the family in turmoil, it looks as if Phil has no choice but to accept his sibling's return to his life...

LEANNE RUNS AWAY WITH STEVE'S BABY

But can Nick convince her to stay in Weatherfield?

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Coronation Street's big secret is finally out in the open – Steve McDonald is the father of Leanne's baby! However, the stunned fella might live to regret reacting so harshly to her pregnancy bombshell, if these sneaky snaps are anything to go by...

Our Corrie spies spotted actress Jane Danson – who plays Leanne – and young star Alex Bain, aka Leanne's son Simon, filming some very telling scenes featuring their alter egos at a bus station with their bags packed. Are they leaving Weatherfield forever – and what will Steve have to say about it?

"Leanne is in an impossible situation," our Weatherfield insider reminds us. "Steve can't cope with the idea of watching his child grow up across the street from him, while having no part in its life. But if he tells Michelle that Leanne is having his baby, his marriage is more than likely over for good. Leanne's only option is to start afresh somewhere new, so that she can bring up her little'un without this huge secret hanging over her."

Nick makes a mad dash to stop Leanne from leaving

“WILL LEANNE TELL NICK THAT SHE'S PREGNANT WITH ANOTHER MAN'S CHILD?”

With Steve in such turmoil, there is no telling how he will feel about Leanne doing a flit with their child. However, there is one fella who's determined to stop her from leaving town...

Our paparazzi pictures also show Leanne's old flame Nick making what looks like a mad last-minute dash to try to convince her to stay. But will he make it in the Nick of time?

"It's obvious that he still cares very deeply for Leanne, and she still has a soft spot for him, too," shares our mole. "The big question is: will Leanne tell him that she's pregnant with another man's child? Will it alter his feelings for her?"

And it doesn't seem as if Simon is that chuffed about leaving the cobbles, either. "He looks like he's about to kick off!" gasps our snoop. "Will he go with his mum, or stay behind in the Street?"

It's sure to be a trying time for Leanne as she decides how best to move forward. Viewers can find out whether Leanne stays or goes when the episode airs in late August.

Where does Leanne plan on taking Simon and her unborn child?

AWAY BABY!

Simon looks as if he's causing his mum grief again!

Simon Gregson speaks out about THAT shock twist...

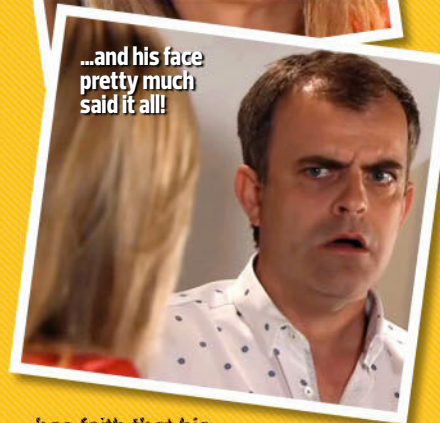

“STEVE ISN'T A BAD GUY!”

Leanne told Steve she was keeping their baby...

...and his face pretty much said it all!

Jaws hit the floor when Leanne made the damning phone call that revealed Steve as the father of her baby! But no one was more shocked than the fella himself, who was visibly flabbergasted when she explained that she would be keeping the child...

“Steve’s whole world crumbles around him,” says his real-life alter ego Simon Gregson, speaking for the first time since the big twist. “He genuinely thought that he and Michelle were over, and went across to Leanne’s very innocently – before one thing led to another. He’s feeling incredibly guilty about the whole thing, and is really worried about what’s going to happen next.”

Steve’s panic was clear as he made the assumption that Leanne would have a termination. However, Simon has faith that his character will come through for Leanne and stand by her.

“Steve’s not a bad guy,” insists the cobbles star. “He is quite a sensitive chap, so he will feel awful and want to be there for the child.”

NICOLA KISSES

What will Jimmy and Kerry say?

The friendship between Nicola and Dan tips over into romance this week – when she kisses the man who saved her life.

Since the fire at the Mill left her paralysed on one side, Nicola has been struggling to cope – and husband Jimmy treating her with kid gloves has only made things worse. She's sought solace in paramedic-in-training Dan, who was also the one who rescued her from certain death in the blaze. After scaring off her physio, she asks Dan to step in to help her – but during a session, things turn passionate!

"Nicola wants to feel like a woman again," explains Nicola Wheeler, who plays her. "All Jimmy sees at the moment is her disability, and so does everyone else. Only Dan treats her normally, and he rallies Nicola in the way she needs. In return, she offers a sympathetic ear about Dan's career goals – because his partner Kerry has other things on her mind, and is a lot less empathetic."

It's clear there's a spark between Nicola and Dan, and it's a big moment of trust when she agrees to let him assist with her physio – as Nicola isn't the easiest person to help. Dan is there when the doctor tells Nicola there is a chance she may not recover any movement or feeling in her right arm – a big blow, and one that Nicola is sure will destroy her marriage.

"She's devastated and worried about Jimmy's reaction, because they're not coping as it is," shares Nicola. "If Nicola comes back with the news that things aren't going to return to normal, she can't see how their relationship will survive. They've stopped being husband and wife, and become carer and

“NICOLA THINKS THAT JIMMY WILL LEAVE, AS IT'S THE ONLY WAY HE'LL COPE”

...and the pair have been supporting each other through trying times patient – and Nicola thinks that Jimmy will have to leave, as it's the only way he'll cope."

She pours her heart out to Dan, but he's defiant and insists she's got to fight on and not accept it. They then move on to the issues in Dan's relationship, as Kerry fails to support him over his exams and job interview. And the big moment comes when Nicola asks how Kerry feels about Dan spending time with another woman – and he tells her that she isn't bothered.

"Nicola says that under normal circumstances, Kerry would be jealous," reveals the star. "She reckons it's because no one sees her as a threat now she's disabled. She tells Dan all he feels for her is pity. When he denies that, she moves in for a kiss – and immediately regrets it!"

It's a shock to Dan, and he's quick to quit as her physio – till Nicola begs him to reconsider.

"She's gutted," says Nicola. "She tells Dan she just wants to be friends, so he agrees. The truth, however, is that Dan is the antidote to what is a very miserable existence right now..."

KATE WHITE

DAN!

More than just friends?

The kiss is a one-off, according to Nicola – but fans had better prepare themselves, because the spark between the pair hasn't been extinguished.

"They're carrying a torch for each other!" she insists. "It'll be quite obvious there are feelings there, but they are feelings that have been brought about by a situation. Dan and Nicola are in a bubble of helping each other, and the minute that they are back in the real world, the bubble pops!"

Will this flirtation spell the end for two Emmerdale relationships, though?

"I think that Nicola and Jimmy are strong enough to get through it," predicts Nicola. "Provided that it remains just a kiss..."

ESTHER & KIM GET HITCHED!

But will Grace's meddling ruin the big day?

Excited Kim and Esther prepare to tie the knot this week – but bitter Grace is in no mood to celebrate, and schemes with Frankie to put a stop to the wedding!

Try as she might, Esther hasn't been able to persuade Grace and Frankie to support her relationship with wacky nurse Kim, and is devastated when Grace drops a bombshell in the run-up to her nuptials...

"Esther just wants to be loved, and I do think Kim loves her," shares Jazmine Franks, who plays Esther. "But Grace doesn't approve, and tells Esther she won't be coming to the wedding. Esther is upset her best friend won't be there, especially when she and Grace have been through so much. But although Esther's gutted, she's determined to marry Kim, and this won't stop her!"

Grace is not alone in her concerns, and teams up with Frankie, who has never approved of her granddaughter's fiancée. With a common goal in mind, the women decide to work together to throw the day into disarray – but how much damage do they cause?

"It's pretty serious meddling!" laughs Jazmine. "Once they've gone through with their plan, Esther starts to think she should postpone the wedding. Grace and Frankie are pleased, as this would give them more time to convince Esther not to

The bad boy is making yet another Walford comeback...

SNEAK PREVIEW!

Rumour has it that former EastEnders star Neil McDermott is in line for another guest stint as Ryan Malloy.

Whitney's older brother – who was previously on the run from the law – was last seen in prison after handing himself in to the police. But the fact that he's currently banged up isn't going to spell the end for the character, with filming already under way for another reappearance...

"Ryan is never far away from Whitney's mind, and she has always stayed in touch as much as possible," whispers our Square insider. "And although Ryan will only be in a couple of episodes, it's fair to say that when he's around, drama follows."

It's Whitney who is sure to be at the heart of matters

Whitney could do with some brotherly love right now

this time, however, as she's just found out she's pregnant with her fiancé Lee's baby. Her joy will turn to heartbreak, though, if Whit learns that her beau slept with Abi Branning – and, of course, secrets never stay hidden for long in Walford!

So, could the big reveal see the shattered lass flee to the local nick for a visit with her jailbird brother? Or might a twist mean that overprotective Ryan is released from jail in time for a serious chat with cheating Lee? Watch this space...

RONNIE IN DANGER?

There's a shock in store for Ronnie this week, as she at last works out the truth about Andy's secret identity!

For weeks, Andy has been worming his way into Ronnie's affections – but while viewers are aware that he's the adopted brother of Ronnie's deceased daughter Danielle, she's so far remained completely oblivious.

That's all set to change, though, after a conversation with Kyle causes Ronnie to realise how she and Andy are connected. As she confronts him on the unsettling matter, could Ronnie be in trouble?

"It seems Andy believes that she is to blame for his sister's death," sighs our EastEnders insider. "And it appears that's why he tracked her down. He's done all he can to muscle his way into Ronnie's world since then and, luckily for him, his efforts have worked a charm!

"Without a clue about who he is, Ronnie has taken him under her wing – and even encouraged him to get together with her sister Roxy," continues our snoop. "But has Andy been plotting some cruel revenge against her all along?"

The terrible truth starts to dawn once Andy goes missing with Ronnie's son Matthew

“HAS ANDY BEEN PLOTTING SOME CRUEL REVENGE AGAINST RONNIE ALL ALONG?”

The penny finally drops about who Andy really is...

– plus kids Amy and Richard – after saying he's going to the zoo. They do eventually arrive home safely, but Andy's odd behaviour sets alarm bells ringing for Ronnie, and prompts her to do some digging...

"Ronnie can feel something isn't right, and she visits Andy's friend Kyle," reveals our source. "Kyle has already found Andy's folder of newspaper cuttings about Danielle, but hasn't thought anything of it as he's not familiar with Ronnie's past.

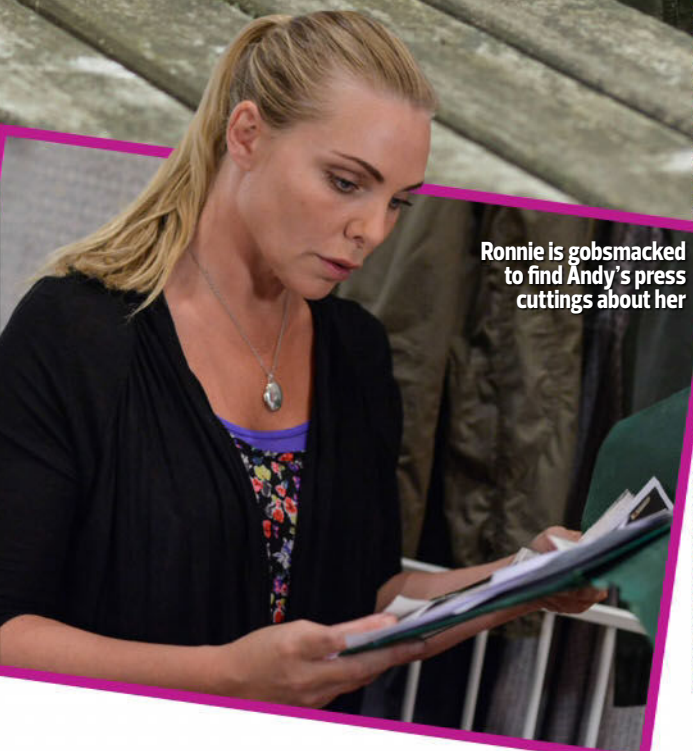

"So when Ronnie first calls round asking questions about Andy, Kyle stands up for him," adds our mole. "But he soon tells her all about the cuttings. And once Ronnie claps eyes on those, it's not long before she clocks who Andy really is!"

Determined to get to the bottom of the matter, Ronnie wastes no time in finding Andy and demanding he tell her the truth. As their showdown commences at the park, how will Andy react to being caught out? And is the Mitchell madam taking a terrible risk in tackling him all alone?

"We don't know whether Andy realises what awful things Ronnie went through to find her daughter, only for Danielle to then die," says our sneak. "So if he does hold her responsible for him losing his sibling, will this mean he wants to do Ronnie harm? Or does he have other intentions?"

Whitney wants answers from Lee and Abi...

Rocked by the revelation that she has chlamydia, pregnant Whitney is on the warpath this week!

Mortified by her health news, Whitney has no idea that she caught the sexually transmitted infection from her fiancé Lee, as a result of his one-night stand with Abi. But after Whitney turns to her best pal Lauren for support, she starts to wonder whether there's something that someone's not telling her – and soon, she's armed and ready with some very awkward questions for Lee and Abi...

“At first, Whitney has no reason to think the worst of Lee,” says our Walford informant. “They've had their troubles over the past few months while he's battled depression – but she loves him, and wants them to make a go of being parents. Before now, it hasn't even crossed Whitney's mind that Lee would betray her – even when she hears she has chlamydia.”

Whitney corners Abi in the kitchen – and soon tracks down Lee, too

However, as upset Whitney's paranoia grows following her diagnosis, she leans on Lauren – oblivious to the fact that her best mate already knows of Lee's indiscretion with Abi.

Initially, Whitney's main concern is what Lee's parents Mick and Linda will think of her. But after a heart-to-heart with her mate, she begins to question whether she has been too quick to blame herself for this mess.

As Whitney rallies Lee and Abi for a serious conversation, will the guilty pair be persuaded to be honest with her – and confess their sorry deed?

THE BATTLE OF THE BISTRO!

Robert's staffing troubles leave the Bistro in chaos – and Leanne is the only one who can help him...

Tensions at the Bistro reach boiling point this week, with Robert falling apart in Leanne's absence. But as the situation becomes a crisis, will Leanne step in – and what will Nick say if she does?

With the staff overworked and ready to quit, and Leanne so far refusing to come back as restaurant manager, Robert is in a terrible mess. That's music to the ears of bitter Nick, who is focused on setting up a rival restaurant and stealing away Robert's workers and clientele. Nobody could blame Nick for revelling in his competitor's despair – Robert did sleep with Carla behind Nick's back – but Leanne is less than impressed. She's not interested in declaring war on Robert, and Nick's petty behaviour isn't attractive to her. But whether Nick sticks the knife in or not, it's clear that Robert is running his Weatherfield eatery into the ground...

"It's true, chef Robert is in way over his head," sniffs our Corrie insider. "When he bought the Bistro, he really thought Leanne would be his right-hand woman, and he offered her lots of money to stay in that position.

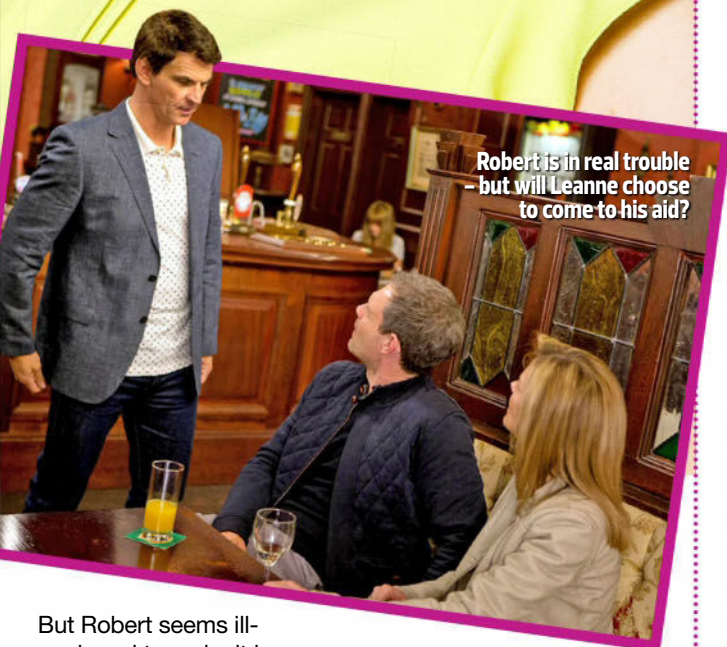

What he didn't bank on was Leanne's loyalty to Nick – and the fact that without her, he can't manage the running of the place and all the kitchen madness."

The person who's been suffering most under Robert's regime is poor Steph. She's been worked into the ground as the staff shortages have seen her take on all manner of roles. While she's capable, Steph isn't paid enough to deal with all the stress – and Robert's false promises that things will improve are making her ever more furious.

Nick can't believe it when he arrives to find the Bistro in chaos, as Steph departs to take a break and Robert fails to keep things calm. The next day, Zeedan discovers his boss hungover having spent the night in the Bistro, and it's clear something needs to change.

“THIS WAS MEANT TO BE ROBERT'S DREAM, BUT IT'S TURNING INTO A NIGHTMARE!”

But Robert seems ill-equipped to make it happen.

"Robert's having a total meltdown – he just doesn't know what to do," sighs our mole. "This was supposed to be his dream business, and it's turning into a nightmare. At this rate, Nick won't have to try very hard to bury Robert and the Bistro!"

As Nick rubs his hands together in glee, exhausted Steph, Andy and Zeedan begin to wonder if there's any future for them with Robert. His attempts to buy their loyalty by promising a bonus fall flat, as the trio make clear that money won't solve the problem. But with Leanne still refusing to return to her old position and Nick on the warpath, has Robert lost the battle already?

Sorry Ken, you had your chance...

Grieving Audrey finds comfort in Freddie's arms this week – as Ken realises he's missed his chance with her.

While Ken has struggled to find the right words to make his intentions towards Audrey clear, she's been having a whale of a time with happy-go-lucky Freddie. She thinks the world of Ken, though she's been bowled over by Freddie's kindness in the wake of Kylie's tragic death, and how brilliantly he handled the kids as David struggled to cope in the hours after he lost his wife.

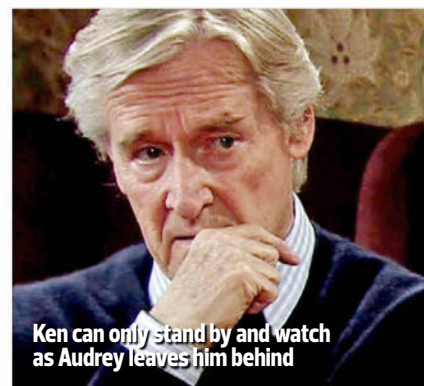

So, when Ken tries to ask Audrey round for dinner – convinced he needs to take the softly, softly approach given the circumstances – Audrey fobs him off. She's far too busy with Freddie to be bothered about Ken's kind invitation, and it's Freddie to whom she turns as she tries to make sense of what's happened. It seems he is the only one who can make her feel something other than a deep sense of gloom.

Having experienced the loss of his wife Sadie, Freddie is a man on a mission to enjoy life. At Kylie's wake, he's the one who gets up to dance in her memory, providing a moment of light on one of the Platt family's darkest days. And after that happy moment, he and Audrey share a kiss that seals their affection for each other.

The question is: has Ken lost Audrey to Freddie for good?

CONNIE'S NEW NIGHTMARE!

Has her daughter Grace really been harming her best pal?

Connie's work life and personal life clash in spectacular fashion this week, when her daughter Grace is accused of abusing her fellow student Carmel!

Youngster Carmel is rushed into hospital after an accident on her trampoline, and worried Grace begs her mum to look after her poorly pal. But when Connie uncovers other worrying injuries, Carmel declares that Grace is the one who hurt her...

"Grace has befriended Carmel, the most popular girl in school, and she wants to be just like her," explains Amanda Mealing, who plays worried mum Connie. "Carmel's mum Steph is a yummy mummy – she makes cupcakes every morning, that kind of thing!

"After Carmel has the accident on the trampoline, Grace runs to get Connie, and they take her to the hospital," continues the star. "It's there that they realise Carmel has all these cuts and bruises, and it looks as though there may be some kind of abuse going on."

As Connie urges Carmel to open up about how she got the cuts, she's stunned when the girl names Grace as her tormentor! Connie doesn't want to believe that her daughter could be capable of something so malicious, but with all the evidence pointing towards her, she's forced to investigate – leaving Grace devastated.

Meanwhile, Grace also has the hump with her mum after finding out that she's been secretly dating Jacob! Connie had previously promised she'd stop seeing him and focus on Grace, so Grace kicks off big time when she sees them together. But could Jacob turn out to be Grace's saviour?

As Jacob has a heart-to-heart with Grace, he explains that Carmel's injuries were inflicted by someone with long nails – and since he knows that Grace bites her nails, he also knows she can't be responsible for the cuts. So if it's not Grace, who has been hurting Carmel?

"It starts to look like the yummy mummy isn't so yummy after all, and social services are called," reveals Amanda. "That infuriates Steph – she doesn't necessarily want revenge, but she wants to confront Connie. Connie tries to explain that social services are dealing with it, but Steph chases after her."

What follows could have serious consequences for both Connie and Grace. So, as this series of Casualty comes to a spectacular finish, could it be the end of the line for the ED boss?

Vincent invites Claudette to dinner at the Hubbards'...

Claudette manages to get herself back into son Vincent's good books this week – but it looks as if she could struggle to stay on the straight and narrow after she discovers Babe is blackmailing the Cokers!

Vincent may have tried to strangle her and then bury her body in the basement, but Claudette is willing to let bygones be bygones and put things right with her boy.

Unfortunately, Vincent is nowhere near as forgiving as his mother, and although his sister Donna is willing to start afresh, he's refused to forgive Claudette for murdering his dad and using his death to incite a war with the Mitchells.

However, Vincent has a change of heart this week and decides to invite his exiled ma over for a family dinner! While grateful for the olive branch, Claudette is nervous, yet she manages to impress Vincent and convince him that she's turned over a new leaf. Satisfied that his mum's dodgy dealings are a thing of the past, Vincent offers delighted Claudette another chance.

She may find it difficult to stick to her reformed character, though, after she pays a visit to Pam. As if poor Pam isn't struggling enough in the wake of grandson Paul's death, she confides in Claudette about

Ashley and Laurel are at their wits' end with Gabby

TOUGH LOVE!

Ashley reports young Gabby to the police...

All hell breaks loose in the Thomas house this week, as Ashley shops unruly Gabby to the police!

His daughter's outlandish behaviour has been driving him and Laurel up the wall in recent months, and he was horrified to discover that Gabby was the one who broke into Victoria's house. It's the last straw for furious Ashley, who reckons Gabby needs more than a firm telling-off from her parents to kick her into shape – so he reports her at the local nick.

Although Ashley prays he's doing the right thing by involving the cops, he's evil Babe's crippling blackmail demands over Les' alter ego, Christine. Will horrified Claudette keep her word to Vincent – or will she seek revenge on the woman inflicting misery on two of her oldest friends?

forced to concede that he has dementia when he struggles to keep up with the officer's questions. And as fuming Gabby inspects the bruises she picked up during the break-in, the cruel teenager forms an idea to get revenge on her dad for his betrayal...

With father and daughter at loggerheads, concerned Doug ropes in Gabby's pal Liv to come up with a plan to encourage her and Ashley to talk things through. But while in hindsight Ashley admits that he was too hasty in going to the police, they're both as stubborn as each other, and neither is willing to simply suck it up and apologise for their actions.

Things quickly turn even more sour when Gabby tells heartbroken Ashley that she wishes he would drop dead – only for him to inform his little girl that he wishes she'd never been born! Have the pair gone too far this time?

ELLY'S BABY SHOCK!

A snake bite leads to a major revelation...

Elly's life is hanging in the balance this week – after she's bitten by a tiger snake!

The terrifying incident takes place on Ramsay Street, where the snake has been released by someone as a cruel act of revenge. But while Elly fights for her life in hospital, she's given some more life-changing news that sends her reeling...

"This is a character-defining moment for her – it exposes something huge in her past that she has to deal with," teases newcomer Jodi Anasta, who plays her. "Elly is actually trying to save Nell at the time – she drags her out of the way, and as a result is bitten by the snake herself. It's pretty full-on!"

After seriously ill Elly is rushed to hospital, Karl realises he must act swiftly if he's to save her life. But things become more complicated when he discovers Elly is pregnant – and treating her will put her baby's life at risk.

"It's a huge curve ball for Elly," admits Jodi. "And the aftermath is very traumatic."

Viewers will have to wait and see whether Elly and her baby survive the snake attack – but while some may shudder at the prospect of having a slippery serpent on set, Jodi had no qualms about it.

"It was totally fine – I love snakes!" she grins. "They don't scare me at all, and this one was very friendly."

ALF'S DEADLY COLLAPSE! He's having a heart attack...

Alf's life hangs in the balance once again this week, after he suffers a heart attack while out at sea!

The Summer Bay stalwart is out on his boat, The Blaxland, when he's struck down with chest pains. And as he struggles to breathe, it falls to his new right-hand man Justin Morgan to save Alf's life...

Justin finds himself working as Alf's deck hand after his sister, Tori, secures him the gig. He's initially upset that his sibling felt the need to interfere in his life and find him a job – but when he eventually calms down, he realises it's a great opportunity.

"Justin is reluctant to go on the boat with Alf in the first place," explains James Stewart, who plays the newcomer. "But once he's there, he does start to enjoy it."

Justin and Alf soon bond over their love of the water, not to mention the fact that they both have bossy sisters! But disaster strikes when the boat breaks down – and while Justin tries to fix it, he has bigger things to worry about when Alf collapses.

With the boat at a standstill and no phone signal, what will Justin do?

"He just jumps in the water and goes for help," reveals James. "It's not like Justin asked for this – he is an accidental hero."

So, will Justin be able to swim to shore and raise the alarm? And will help arrive in time to save Alf from an early grave?

Also this week... Rumours are afoot about Nate and Tori's relationship, and Hunter struggles in the wake of Andy's confession – will he take his revenge?

BE MY BRIDESMAID?

Belle is mortified when Joanie pops the question...

EMMERDALE | ITV Thursday

Joanie bites the bullet this week – by asking her future stepdaughter Belle to be her bridesmaid!

Ever since Zak left Lisa for fancy woman Joanie, relations between Belle and her dad's new fiancée have been frosty, to say the least – but with her wedding on the horizon, Joanie is desperate to build bridges with her new family. However, Belle is lost for words at Joanie's request and storms off, hurting the older woman's feelings.

Later on, Belle is taken aback after Lisa insists she'd be fine with the idea – and Belle's boyfriend Bailey also reckons she'd be wise to forgive and forget the events that ripped her parents apart. But as Belle's secret sidekick 'Ellie' – a figment of the troubled girl's imagination – blasts the idea and claims she should tell Joanie where to stick her outrageous request, what will Belle decide to do next?

Also this week... Charity ropes in Rodney to help her con a pub competition judge who's among the punters.

they have a future...

A full-length portrait of actress Natalie J Robb. She is smiling and looking towards the camera. She has dark, curly hair and is wearing a bright yellow, sleeveless, sequined dress with a V-neckline. Her hands are on her hips. The background is a white step-and-repeat banner with logos for 'The Dingle' and 'Emmerdale'.

*Moirra still loves Cain,
but she can't be with him!*

There was a time when the idea of Cain Dingle being a devoted husband was laugh-out-loud hilarious – but then he met his match in fiery Moira. Together, they have bucket loads of chemistry, and it's made Cain's antics even more thrilling to watch because he's now got so much to lose – so it breaks our hearts that their marriage crumbles this week in the face of Holly's drug problems and Charity's opportunism. Surely it can't all be over for Emmerdale's most compelling couple?

"I always knew this would happen – in soapland, marriages never stay happy," insists Natalie J Robb, who plays Moira and joins us for a gossip. "But in soap years, they've done all right! They've been together ages, and the truth is that they do love each other. The problem is all the different things that keep getting in their way."

We've seen Cain fall out with Moira over her daughter's addiction, and when he discovers Holly has been using again and that his wife lied about it, Cain goes mad. Predictably, that leads him to a drunken mistake with Charity (see p8), who can't wait to taunt Moira about it. Except that Cain beats her to it and reveals his regret to his horrified wife.

"Moira can't believe that as soon as a bit of trouble comes along, Cain's gone running back to Charity," shares Natalie. "That doesn't go down well, and it puts a massive wedge between them. And just as Moira is wavering and willing to forgive him and give it another go, James comes in to tell her Cain stayed the night at the pub."

Charitable intent: Moira has her nose rubbed in it by Charity

"CAIN'S ACTIONS ARE THE STRAW THAT BREAKS THE CAMEL'S BACK"

Later, in a fit of rage, Cain almost runs James off the road – until he sees Moira in the car. That's when he swerves and crashes into a wall to avoid them. It's a terrible moment for Moira as she realises she has to walk away from her husband.

"It's the straw that breaks the camel's back," admits Natalie. "She says to him, 'You're off your head! What are you going to do? Kill James? He hasn't even done anything.' That's when she tells Cain it's just best if they let this go. She even tells him their marriage was a mistake, but that's because she's hurt. When she says that, she's hard about it, but the audience will see that she crumbles later on. Moira still loves Cain, she just can't be with him."

It takes a lot to break the heart of the toughest guy in the village, but Moira has done just that. Cain is devastated, and so is she. But Natalie reckons that won't sway her character's resolve to turn her back on her man and focus on what's important.

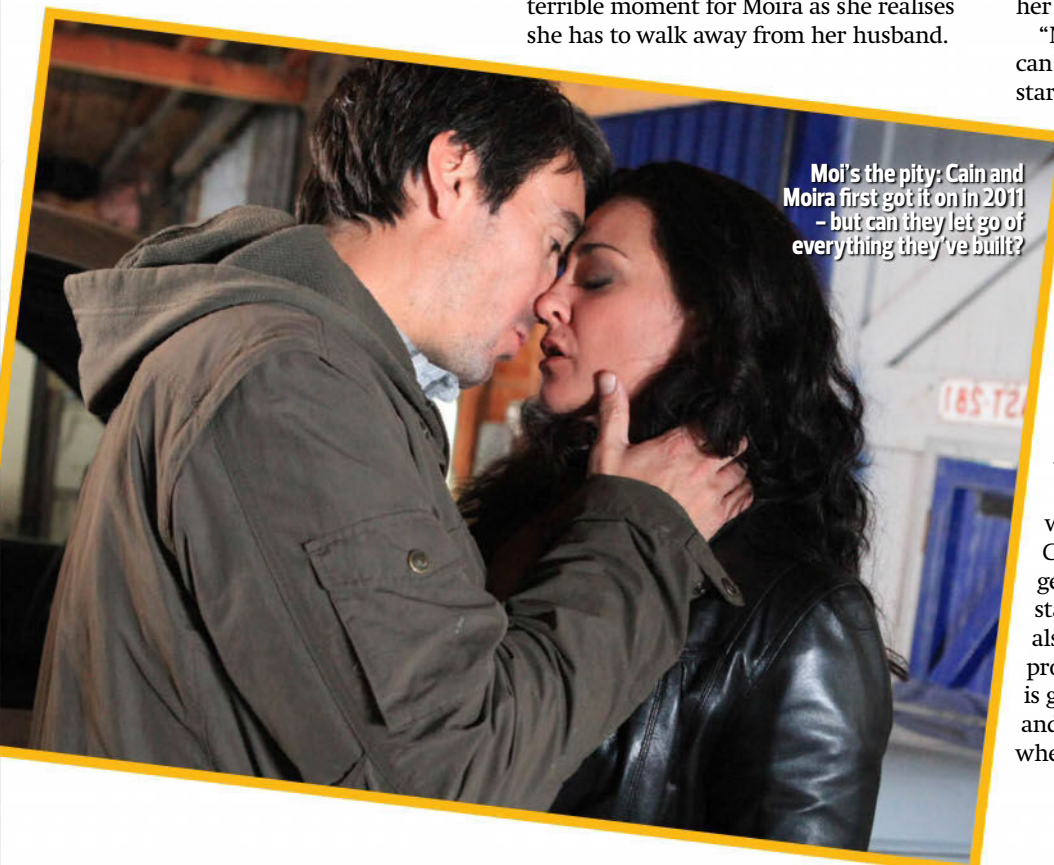

"Moira's priority now is Holly – she can't deal with Cain as well," explains the star. "When we did research on Holly's addiction storyline a year ago, we met a mother and daughter who were living it, and the mum looked so exhausted. She told me that it wipes the floor with you. That's what Emmerdale has portrayed well with Moira – she can't handle any more."

That's entirely reasonable, and Moira should punish Cain for kissing Charity – but there's no doubt viewers will be up in arms at the idea of the Dingles divorcing. In fact, they've taken to social media to voice their views.

"I did see on Twitter that the fans want a referendum if Emmerdale split up Cain and Moira!" laughs Natalie. "The general feeling is that they'd like us to stay together. But a lot of the audience also like the idea that there could be problems, so our producer Iain [MacLeod] is going along with it. The thread of Cain and Moira loving each other will continue, whether they're together or not..."

Moi's the pity: Cain and Moira first got it on in 2011 – but can they let go of everything they've built?

Falling on Jeff ears: Natalie will miss working so closely with her cast mate

For Natalie, the split is going to mean that she'll no longer be able to call co-star Jeff Hordley her screen partner. They are good friends and have had a great time working together over the years.

"Jeff and I have a laugh the whole time – it's a joy to act opposite him," enthuses Natalie. "I like the vulnerable scenes we do together, because when the audience sees Cain's vulnerability, they can see that he and Moira love each other. Those are lovely moments. But I do like the fact that they are bringing Moira's feistiness back. That chemistry is what Cain likes, and it's what makes them work."

However, for the time being there is a vacancy on Cain's side of the bed at Butler's Farm – and no shortage of eligible gentlemen interested in Moira. Does Natalie think her alter ego might be tempted to have a fling?

"Moira does like a younger man, so if they want to bring in another one of them..." she chuckles. "Actually, you've got to be careful, because a lot of the men who go with Moira do end up dead – think of her husband James and poor Alex Moss! But honestly, I don't know whether she should be with anybody. If they bring Moira and Cain back together, then the making up is going to be a lot of fun. I say get us back in that garage where she got the nickname 'Mucky Moira' in the first place!"

“I think Babe would triumph over Claudette!”

As the awful auntie finds herself with a new nemesis, actress Annette Badland tells us Babe won't be quitting her machinations any time soon...

Of all the villains in Walford, we never would have thought that a trifle-making, Reliant-Robin-driving, apron-wearing aunt would turn out to be the most fearsome! She may not have the brute force of Phil Mitchell or the steely determination of Gavin Sullivan, but Babe is not someone we'd ever want to do battle with.

With that in mind, Inside Soap is a 'trifle' worried about speaking to actress Annette Badland, who plays Babe, for fear that she'll be channelling her awful ego during our chat! But luckily the star puts us at ease straight away by revealing that she's nothing like her crafty character...

"I'm not Babe-ish at all – I'm a wimp in real life!" she confesses, as she joins us for a natter.

"She does all the nasty things I could never possibly do. When somebody crosses you, you tend to think, 'Oh, I should have done this, or I should have said that – I'll do it next time'. Babe just does it, though!"

"I have always tried to look for the trigger points that influence Babe and make her vengeful, rather than her just twirling her moustache for the joy of it," adds Annette. "She is becoming a bit more like that now, though – she's just wicked!"

That's been evident in the past few months, as merciless Babe has tormented the poor Cokers for her own pleasure. Even now, with the couple grieving the death of their grandson Paul, Babe is persisting with her harassment of them – and Annette reckons her character has no remorse.

"I suspect she's not feeling bad about it at all at this stage – she's driven by her own desperate needs," insists the actress. "She's quite Dickensian in the way that she finds things and slips them into her pocket to use against people! But the blackmailing started with her making a romantic advance towards Les and him rejecting her, and now she resents seeing him and Pam together as a unit. She's never had what they have."

But while Les and Pam have so far rolled over and taken everything malicious Babe has thrown at them, it looks as though the schemer may be about to meet her match! At the end of their tether, the Cokers let slip to their close friend Claudette that Babe has been blackmailing them (see p24) – and Annette relishes the prospect of the two women battling it out.

"It's fabulous!" she grins. "That could run and run, couldn't it? And let's hope it does! They obviously will have a good go at each other, and neither will back down easily. I think Babe would triumph over Claudette – but then I would say that, wouldn't I? I think I'm the only person on Babe's side!"

With that in mind, we have to ask: are fans frightened to approach Annette when they see her, for fear she'll go all Babe on them?

"Not at all – they're straight in there!" she tells us. "Most people are great, and seem to enjoy what Babe gets up to. But I do get quite shy in public – and I've learnt not to go out as the schools are emptying!"

"The recognition from EastEnders is entirely different from anything I've done before. Nobody calls me Annette now, I'm just Babe to them. Sometimes that's hard – you see people pretending to be texting on their phone, and you know they're sneaking a picture of you. It's much better when they say hello – I love having a chat!"

SARAH ELLIS

Letter have it: Will Babe be paid back for all her horrible antics?

Would you Adam and eavesdrop?: She always has her ear to the ground...

Annette's FAMOUS

The star dishes the dirt on her Walford mates...

No shrinking violet: Babe revels in the distress she causes

"Danny Dyer [Mick] is one of the funniest people on set – he always makes me laugh! He's just very witty and bright. The whole Carter clan is a lively bunch, though – we have such a giggle together."

"I've known Roger Stoman [Les] for years. We both went to the East 15 Acting School – he was ahead of me, but I knew of him there and we have a lot of mutual friends. We've also done a couple of plays together, so it's great to be working more with him now."

"Tameka Empson [Kim] is so funny. Her dressing room used to be next to mine, and she'd always call me Miss Annette – now she calls me Lady Annette, so I'm going up in the world! She's a very heart-warming person, and wonderful to have around the place."

"I really like working with Lorna Fitzgerald as Abi – I've very much enjoyed the scenes we've had together. I think Babe genuinely connected with Abi, and she would have liked them to be friends. But that inevitably soured with all the shenanigans!"

"I'd love to do scenes with Steve McFadden [Phil] – I have wondered whether Babe could be a mechanic! I think she fixes her own car, you see, so I reckon she'd get her boiler suit on and go to work for Phil..."

Sean sees Billy – and soon puts two and two together!

As Sean discovers the truth, star Bruno Langley (Todd) tells all on the Street's forbidden romance...

Todd man out: The Grimshaw lad wants Billy to reveal all

Fit the Bill: Todd has found love with the vicar

Todd and Billy both know their relationship won't be greeted with toasts to their future happiness in the Rovers, so for the moment the passionate pair are keeping their new bond a secret. But nothing stays under wraps in Weatherfield for long, and this week the news of their betrayal changes the Grimshaw family dynamic forever. But although we may have Todd down as a bad boy who has broken Sean's heart, star Bruno Langley argues it's true love for Todd and his forbidden fruit...

"The thing is, Todd was anxious about getting with Billy because of what he knew it would do to Sean," he insists. "Sean is like family to Todd, and Todd has started to see just how important family is in recent months. Todd knows that when Sean finds out the truth, it'll be another example of him hurting family – just like he hurt Eileen and Jason. But Billy is the first person Todd's been serious about for a long time."

Although Todd did try to fight his feelings for Billy, now that they've made the decision to be together, it's been Todd who wants to come clean, while Billy is hesitant.

"Todd really cares about Sean, and it's been playing on his mind that he'll find out about him and Billy sooner or later," explains Bruno. "So Todd has been trying to persuade Billy just to get it out of the way and tell Sean, so they can all move on. But things keep cropping up and obstacles are getting in the way. Billy continues to tell Todd they should wait until a better time."

Of course, delaying the inevitable is a risky business. Billy's been gambling on the fact that Sean won't discover the truth for himself. Unfortunately for the vicar, though, that's exactly what happens when Sean arrives at Kylie's funeral just in time to see his ex and best mate so close that it's obvious they're lovers.

"Sean spots the affection and love between them and puts two and two together," admits Bruno. "Neither Todd nor Billy can lie – it's written all over their faces! It never goes well for Sean, does it? He reacts the way that most people would – there's shock, anger, denial and depression. He feels completely cheated by Todd, and tells Eileen that he can't live under the same roof as him."

"VIEWERS THINK THAT TODD WILL TARNISH BILLY'S REPUTATION!"

with Todd

Phelan lucky?

Of course, Eileen knew her son had fallen for Billy, and has been unwillingly hiding it for a few days. But when Sean discovers Eileen was in the know, it's a new low for the betrayed barman.

"It really hurts Sean to think Eileen wasn't on his side," shares Bruno. "Having given her the ultimatum that she needs to choose between him and Todd, it dawns on Sean that he will have to move out."

Todd may love Billy, but this romance has cost the Grimshaw family dearly. Plus, with Todd's ability to wreck lives, some fans are worried Billy could soon get hurt.

"Viewers are concerned that Todd will tarnish Billy's impeccable reputation!" laughs Bruno. "But he genuinely likes Billy – and feeling like that is quite strange for Todd. We've seen them grow closer as time goes on, so there is a real desire for it to go well. We'll have to see what happens..."

KATE WHITE

SEAN'S DEPARTURE BODES WELL FOR THE SCHEMER...

On the surface of it, Sean's decision to move out is entirely down to Todd's betrayal. But it suits family interloper Phelan, too.

So far, he's managed to manoeuvre grieving Jason out of the country and take over his business, he's fended off all of Todd's attempts to expose his true colours, and now Eileen has lost another ally in Sean.

Only Todd remains, and Phelan knows that he can't win the sceptical son over. But he can use Todd's bad behaviour against him in a bid to cause a divide between him and Eileen.

"Todd realises what Phelan is like because he has some similar traits in himself, so he can spot them a mile off!" grins Bruno. "He doesn't believe Jason's business is in safe hands at all. He's got Phelan's card marked and he doesn't trust him at all."

While Phelan might look all brawn and no brains, he's carefully isolating Eileen from those who love her. But Bruno fancies Todd's chances if the war comes down to tactics.

"In a war of words, Todd would win," he asserts. "He's smarter than Phelan. So I think he could put one over on him!"

“Absolutely anything could happen in Hollyoaks – that’s why I love it!”

As Diego’s sister Maria causes chaos for Myra and her clan, actress Nicole Barber-Lane tells us that nothing is ever as it seems in the soap...

Life chez McQueen has always bordered on the absurd, but over the past few months, things have been even more surreal than usual. Not only has Myra just discovered that she’s pregnant with her eighth child, but she’s also recently found out that John Paul’s dad, Ian, is now a woman called Sally – and her son’s boss at the school! It’s fair to say the world of Hollyoaks is never dull, but as we sit down for a chat with show stalwart Nicole Barber-Lane (Myra), she tells us she wouldn’t have it any other way...

“Listen, anything can happen in Hollyoaks, and that’s what I love about it!” grins the star, who’s nominated in the Funniest Female category in this year’s Inside Soap Awards. “It’s the land of wonderment – it’s not real life. I love the fact that the show has had aliens and ghosts. What other soap can give you that? It’s absolutely brilliant.

“Part of being an actor is accepting that things aren’t set in concrete,” continues

Nicole. “Just because something has been said once on screen, that doesn’t mean it’s true! If you can imagine something, then it’s possible. I’d love to sit in on one of the storyline conferences – it must be so much fun throwing all those ideas about.”

We were certainly a little surprised to find out that Myra is expecting a baby, especially as she’s a grandma who hasn’t been pregnant in over 20 years! And Nicole admits she was just as stunned to learn what was going to happen to her alter ego.

“I WAS LIKE, ‘YOU WHAT?’. THIS IS DEFINITELY A MIRACLE BABY!”

“I actually don’t know how old Myra is, but I think she’s at least 10 years older than me!” chuckles the star, who’s in her early 40s. “At first I thought she might be getting pregnant via IVF and end up with sextuplets – so when I found out that she’d be conceiving naturally, I was like, ‘You what?’. It’s definitely a miracle baby!”

With seven pregnancies under her belt already, you’d think Myra would be a pro at this baby malarkey. But this week she ends up in hospital after collapsing due to stress – and it all kicks off when Diego’s sister, Maria, suddenly turns up in the village.

“Myra welcomes Maria with open arms – she’s really excited to meet her,” reckons

Nicole. “She thinks the whole thing is great, because they’re going to be sisters-in-law after all! But then Maria gets ill, and Myra doesn’t want to catch anything because of her pregnancy, so she tries to keep her distance a little bit.”

What Myra doesn’t know is that Maria’s ‘illness’ is due to the fact that she’s been smuggling drugs! Both Diego and Mercedes are desperate to keep the truth from Myra for fear of stressing her out during her pregnancy. But they may be too late...

“Mercedes and Diego come home to find Myra collapsed on the floor,” explains Nicole. “They take her to the hospital, and luckily it turns out that everything is okay with the baby. But Celine warns her that she needs to look after herself from now on, and avoid unnecessary stress.”

That’s easier said than done when you’re part of Hollyoaks’ rowdiest clan! With dodgy Maria still hanging round, and Myra’s ongoing feud with Sally over John Paul, there’s little hope of the McQueen matriarch getting a rest any time soon – but Nicole thinks the drama is a gift.

“The storyline with Diego and Maria will be playing out for quite some time, and there may be a few shocks coming Myra’s way,” teases the actress. “There’s also something that happens to John Paul, which could bring Myra and Sally together – or maybe push them further apart. But whatever happens next, I’m having a lot of fun on the show right now...”

SARAH ELLIS

Spanish flu: Diego tries to keep the truth about Maria’s ‘illness’ from his beloved

McQueen FOR A DAY!

Nicole tells us how Myra would reign over Hollywood...

"Diego would be Myra's king, of course. He would be a just and fair ruler, but I think he could perhaps be too caring – Myra would have to do some plotting to make sure the people didn't take advantage of him!"

"The first thing Myra would do as queen would be to take over the Dog In The Pond – I'd love it if the McQueens ran the pub. And she'd also take the opportunity to rename local streets after members of her family."

"Scott would be her court jester. Ross Adams, who plays him, is just so funny. He doesn't do anything specific – we just talk and he's hilarious! We have such a good time on set."

"Myra would throw Silas Blissett in the stocks – if she could get hold of him! He's terrorised her girl Mercedes twice now, so as queen she'd really like to track him down, lock him up, and then throw apples at him every day."

"Wind Beneath My Wings would be Myra's national anthem. It was her funeral song as well as her resurrection song, so I think it would be particularly apt!"

Dramas & daytime!

The stars of our favourite night-time dramas and daytime shows want your vote in this year's Inside Soap Awards. Read on for our exclusive chats...

Richard
WINSOR

CALEB KNIGHT CASUALTY

Casualty is gearing up for its explosive 30th anniversary in September – and with two Drama awards up for grabs this year, the show could be taking home some Inside Soap trophies as a present! Richard – who's up for both Best Drama Star and Best Drama Storyline – certainly hopes they're in line for a birthday treat...

So, Richard, how do you rate your competition for Best Drama Star?

Well, it's a real privilege to be up against people like

Amanda Mealing [Connie] and Derek Thompson [Charlie]. Derek definitely deserves an award for patience and perseverance – for being in Casualty for so many years!

And how do you feel being up for Best Drama Storyline?

The Huntington's disease plot was one long journey for my character and was so dramatic, but it was lovely as an actor to be given that kind of story.

Who in your show do you most enjoy working with?

It's got to be George Rainsford [Ethan]. We've done so much together, and we're still not sick of each other! That's a real testament to our relationship.

Do you all manage to have a laugh between the life-and-death drama?

George and I can be quite naughty between takes. There was one scene where Crystal [Yu, aka Lily] had to pick up a piece of paper, and we'd drawn something rude on it! Me and George cracked up. Our chests hurt from laughing!

What will the Casualty cast be doing to celebrate the show's 30th anniversary?

We're going to have a big screening of the anniversary episode – we'll probably all get dressed up, and very drunk! But it will be really nice to get everyone together and watch the episode unfold on the big screen.

Sneak preview!

"Cal and Ethan are in a good place for once," Richard tells us. "But Ethan's head is about to be turned by a girl, and he and Cal are going to end up competing for her attention. There's going to be sparring between them, and a few misunderstandings..."

"Things can get quite naughty between takes!"

Rebekah ELMALOGLU

TERESE WILLIS

NEIGHBOURS

Poor Terese has endured so much heartbreak this year – but her alter ego's woes have earned actress Rebekah a nod in the Best Daytime Star category...

Congratulations on your nomination, Bek!

Thank you so much. I feel incredibly honoured to be included among such an auspicious line-up. Even though I've been acting in soaps for a long time, it still feels very special.

What's been your personal highlight of the past year?

I've been incredibly spoilt plot-wise! Terese has been to hell and back. Her marriage breaking up, her alcoholism, the death of her son and her father-in-law, and to top it all off, an affair with Paul Robinson – seriously, what else can happen to the poor woman? Lots more, I hope!

What has been the most challenging thing for you to film this year?

I can't go past the explosion episodes, when my gorgeous on-screen son Josh – played by the incredible Harley Bonner – died. They were the most emotionally draining episodes I've done in years, and everyone on set felt it. We all shared the experience.

How much do UK fans mean to the Neighbours cast?

Everything! We receive so much feedback from our UK viewers via social media that I feel close to them. And the British fans are so invested in the programme – I've never experienced anything like it. We're in our own little world on Ramsay Street, and you can forget the impact the show has on our fans' days. It is so humbling, and we are very grateful.

Neighbours* is also in the running for Best Daytime Soap. What would it mean to you if the show won?

Hand on heart, we would all be so excited. We're in our 31st year, and – call me biased – I think the stories during the past 12 months have been some of the best ever. And I'm sure we could find a special place for the trophy in the green room!

Sneak preview!

"You would think that after the year Terese has had, the writers would let the poor girl have a lie-down!" muses Bek.

"But oh no, there is so much coming up, including a very unlikely romantic liaison – and it's not Paul Robinson!"

"Our UK fans mean everything to us!"

David AMES

DOMINIC COPELAND
HOLBY CITY

“We have a bit of friendly rivalry with Casualty!”

Arthur's loss brought heartbreak to Holby, but star David – aka Arthur's best mate Dominic – reveals that there's a lot of laughter behind the scenes...

Being in categories alongside Casualty, is there a friendly rivalry between the two shows?

Absolutely! We all dip in and out of each other's show, and there are times when characters from Holby nip over to Casualty and vice versa, so it's a lovely rivalry. I'm sure there'll be some Twitter banter coming up, but it'll all be in jest.

What has been your biggest highlight of the past 12 months?

I'm very proud of the response we had to Arthur's cancer story. My Twitter feed went ballistic with it, and that's my only direct route to Holby City viewers, so it was nice to see such an incredible response. Lots of people said how the story prompted them to get themselves checked out, which was moving.

You're up for the Best Drama Star category – congratulations! But who would you plump for if you weren't nominated?

I know that Camilla [Arfwedson, who plays Zosia] will kill me for saying this, but I would have to go with Rob [Ostlere, aka Arthur]. He went above and beyond, and as he's one of my best friends, I was proud.

Your friendship with Rob and Camilla is well documented, but have you managed to keep it all going since Rob left?

Yes! This weekend, we're all going to Brighton to have a bit of quality time together. We have such a wonderful bond – we'll be friends for life. When we learned Rob was leaving, we called an emergency meeting that same evening!

How are you enjoying playing Dom's new romance with Isaac?

It's come at a good time for Dom. The chemistry between me and Marc Elliott [Isaac] is great, and it's a pleasure to be working with him.

Sneak preview!

“We're getting to the point where Dom and Isaac are starting to relax,” David tells us. “Isaac is very naughty, so it's good that he's starting to bring back a few of Dom's naughty ways!”

Lorna LAIDLAW

MRS TEMBE
DOCTORS

There's never a dull moment at The Mill, and Lorna Laidlaw – who plays much-loved practice manager Mrs Tembe – has been at the centre of things this year, leading to a nomination in the Best Daytime Star category...

Doctors has a huge fan base, doesn't it?

Yes! Once upon a time people used to be closet Doctors fans, but nowadays it's a badge they all wear with pride! Our viewers are loyal and very passionate – I think it's amazing.

“People used to be closet Doctors fans – but not any more!”

Congratulations on your nomination for Best Daytime Star! How are you feeling about that?

Well, to be nominated for anything is a massive honour – and Mrs Tembe is such a great character to play. But actually, I feel as though I'm representing everyone on the show, because Doctors is a very special place to be. Winning Best Daytime Soap would be incredible for us all – I've got every confidence our fans will be voting for us!

What's been your Mrs Tembe highlight this year?

I think it has to be keeping the secret surrounding her exit, and not revealing that she'd be back – we even removed her from the credits and everything! The Doctors Facebook page went bonkers. It's incredible that we were able to create such a big stir.

As a tight-knit group, you all must have a lot of laughs on set?

We do – the cast is full of comedians! I can't think of anybody who doesn't bring a spark of joy when they walk on set. At the moment we're all really into Game Of Thrones, and if somebody starts humming the theme tune, everyone joins in – so it finishes with a big chorus at the end! It's very rousing.

Sneak preview!

“Mrs Tembe still has a way to go in learning diplomacy,” shares Lorna. “Being The Mill's practice manager has already thrown up plenty of challenges for her, and that's set to continue! And a bit of romance is well overdue, too...”

George MASON

MARTIN 'ASH'
ASHFORD

HOME AND AWAY

“Things are going to get very steamy
for Ash!”

Summer Bay hunk Ash has been working his way round the local ladies this year. His romantic antics have put lovely George in the running for Best Daytime Star – and he’s absolutely delighted...

Why should Inside Soap readers vote for Home and Away as Best Daytime Soap?

Because we’re better than the others, and we have a beach! Plus there’s actual surfing in the show now, too – usually you just see us coming out of the water carrying our boards, but today the director let me go out to sea for real. The surf was really pumping!

It must be action shots like that which have earned you a nomination for the Best Daytime Star Award...

I’m stoked about that. It’s the first time I’ve been nominated for anything! Although I’m up against some of my favourite people. Alec [Snow, aka Matt] is a really good friend of mine, and Bonnie Sveen [Ricky] is an absolute powerhouse. Also, Lynne McGranger [Irene] is such a good spirit, she’s just so true to her character.

Have you had any funny moments on set recently?

There’s a scene coming up where I have to run after the character Billie – I was running really fast, and everyone was laughing at my running style! Apparently it’s quite interesting, I think it’s because I’ve got a longer torso and shorter legs. But don’t tell your readers that, they’ll take the mick out of me!

Your secret is safe with us! Do you ever get to meet your UK fans?

We do get to meet them at Palm Beach [where Home and Away is filmed] sometimes. It’s absurd to think that we’ve got fans from places like Ireland, Scotland and England. I always make time to chat to them, as they’ve travelled so far. And they’re excited to meet me, which is really awesome!

Sneak preview!

“There’s some exciting stuff coming up for Ash – he finally grows some balls and decides what he wants in life!” reveals George. “His relationship with Kat starts to develop more deeply, and it’s pretty physical – it gets a bit steamy for Home and Away! I’m also off to Alice Springs to film another spin-off soon...”

Brotherhood of tan!

With Scott being a resident of Love Island for several weeks, and Ryan seeking pastures new in London and LA after quitting as Corrie's Jason, it's been a while since Emmerdale's Adam Thomas (Adam) has got together with his celebrity siblings. So he and Ryan jetted into Mallorca for the Love Island finale party to be reunited with their brother. While there, the boys wasted no time in making the most of the sunshine – with Ryan, who was clearly feeling the heat, trying out a brand-new look. We're sorry to say it, Ryan – but it's a bit too Kevin Webster in 1983 for us!

Scott struggled to contain his delight at being with his brothers

It's A Kind Of Magic how different Ryan looks with a moustache!

GLOVE STORY

Hollyoaks' 'Gloved Hand Killer' Sophie Austin (Lindsey) is slipping the gloves back on – but the residents of the village needn't worry about the murderous medic returning from the dead! Dressed in stylish 60s attire, Sophie – who left Hollyoaks in May – was filming alongside former Coronation Street favourite Michelle Keegan (Tina McIntyre) for ITV's new drama Tina And Bobby.

THINGS THAT GO BUMP!

She's been trying to disguise her baby bump on screen (with the help of a few handy props!), but EastEnders' Kellie Bright (Linda) couldn't resist showing off her growing tum in a snap shared by co-star Luisa Bradshaw-White (Tina). It looks as if they'll soon need a bigger bar to hide her behind at the Vic!

COBBLEBOX

Corrie could have two new cast members on the way! Stars of Channel 4's Gogglebox Sandy and Sandra visited the set recently, and a host of Street actors couldn't wait to have a photo taken with them. The Platt clan were first in line, with Sue Nicholls (Audrey), Helen Worth (Gail), Tina O'Brien (Sarah) and Lucy Fallon (Bethany) posing for a picture alongside the telly-loving duo. Snapping themselves at cobbles hotspots such as Underworld and the Rovers, the pair looked right at home!

Matthew arrived in the village as David a decade ago, and is nominated for Inside Soap's Best Actor Award. Here, he talks about cooking, couples and co-stars...

Would you rather see David with Tracy or Leyla?

...asks Maria from Tonbridge

I'd definitely like to see him stay with Tracy, because David and Leyla work well as friends. They live together, raise Jacob together – it's a bit like a sexless marriage! Plus, David and Leyla were engaged once, and it all went horribly wrong. But who knows what's going to happen in the future?

What's the best thing about working in David's shop?

...asks Kath, via email

We've just had it rebuilt on the studio set – it used to be one of the only interiors we used on location in the village, but it was absolutely freezing and a bit squashed. I think viewers have noticed that it's bigger these days! It's a fun set to work on, as you get everyone coming in, and I get to work with a whole range of characters.

If you owned a shop like David, what would you sell?

...asks Claire, via email

I'd love to open my own little café selling good healthy food and the odd bottle of nice wine. I really enjoy cooking – which is lucky because my partner Charley [Webb, who plays Debbie] absolutely hates it!

David and Debbie don't share many scenes, so would you like to work with Charley more?

...asks Kim from Portsmouth

David and Debbie have only spoken to each other a handful of times in the past 10 years! I think the producers once toyed with the idea of putting them together, but that might be a bit much. Maybe they could become friends – although it'd be a bit of a strange friendship, because Debbie is as hard as nails while David is a bit of a wimp!

How challenging has David's cancer plot been for you?

...asks Megan, via email

I was over the moon when I heard it was happening. But I've been nervous every day because I just want to get it right, as most people watching will have been affected by cancer in some way. It's been amazing to get my teeth into, and the feedback I've had has been immense and really humbling. It's been an honour.

What's it like working with Joe-Warren Plant, who plays Jacob?

...asks Mel from London

Joe is one of my best little mates on set. He's been here since he was eight years old, and he's 14 now. I feel very protective towards him. He's taller than me now, and much better-looking, which drives me mad! But he's never let anything go to his head, and is an amazing actor who's just getting better.

What do you miss most about Charlie Hardwick [who played Val]?

...asks Cheryl from London

Charlie was brilliant. I think the whole show misses her, as

Cut above the rest: Poorly David has relied on ex-fiancee-turned-best-friend Leyla for support

Trace is ace: David is besotted with Ms Shankley

Top tats: Matthew is proud of his body art

Emmerdale needs a character like Val. But have they really killed her off? Chris Chittell [aka Pollard] says we never saw Val's body – just a body being carried away.

And Val was planning on faking her own death! We'll see. But I learned so much from Charlie, she's incredible. We share a love of art, so we still keep in touch.

You have a massive collection of tattoos! Which is your favourite?

...asks Sue, via email

I've got a couple. There's my first one, a little 'B' on my shoulder for my older son

CAN YOU STILL REMEMBER YOUR VERY FIRST DAY AT EMMERDALE?

...asks Millie from Bromsgrove

" I remember it vividly, Millie. My first scene was in the Woolpack, which is the worst place ever to do your first scene! In there, you're surrounded by loads of other characters – I recognised everyone after seeing them on telly, and I had loads of dialogue to remember. " I was absolutely terrified!

Where's the best place you've ever travelled to?

...asks Sasha, via email

I did a trek in Peru for a breast cancer charity, and it was an incredible place to visit. And we took Buster to Disney World in Orlando – we had an amazing time.

"I CAN'T BELIEVE THEY GAVE DEN'S CATCHPHRASE AWAY"

Walford legend Leslie wasn't pleased when he learned Sharon was someone else's princess...

Den Watts was dirty by name and dirty by nature – and although he made plenty of enemies in Albert Square, his daughter Sharon placed him on a pedestal. The fact she was adopted made no difference to her affections.

So poor Sharon was horrified when it recently transpired that evil Gavin Sullivan was her biological father – and he even laid claim to Den's token greeting, "Hello, princess!"

Although many of the show's fans were thrilled with the twist, just as many were outraged by this rewriting of EastEnders history. And actor Leslie Grantham, who played Den from 1985 to 1989 and again from 2003 to 2005, is definitely in the latter camp...

"I do find it strange that the show gave Den's catchphrase to someone else," muses the actor. "Den is still remembered, and people still ask me to say, 'Ello, princess', because it was one of the bits that made him so popular! You do feel like you own it when you've made such an impact. Obviously, the show moves on and there's a whole new generation now, but I think that's pretty poor writing."

There's no doubt about it that 'Dirty' Den Watts is up there as one of the most memorable characters in soap history, pulling in EastEnders' biggest ever audience – when over 30 million viewers saw the Vic landlord hand divorce papers to his wife Angie on Christmas Day.

Clearly, Leslie made a vital contribution to the soap's early success – but 11 years after his character was killed off for the second (and final) time on screen, does he ever tune in to the show that made him a household name?

"I dip in now and again, and it's great to see that the lovely Adam Woodyatt [Ian] and Tish Dean [aka Sharon] are still there," grins Leslie. "Now it just seems to be full of gangsters, and people shouting! When I was on the show, there was comedy through characters like Ethel Skinner, Dot and Ange, and then there were the nasty characters like Nick Cotton, and you had Arthur Fowler who was simple and Pauline Fowler who kept everything together. It was a true reflection of what was happening in the country, and I think EastEnders had a bit of charm back then."

"But generally, I don't watch the soaps, and would much rather watch old films and football," adds the star. "Once, my agent rang me after reading an article that said I wanted to join Coronation Street, but it wasn't true! I was offered Corrie before I even joined EastEnders, but I turned it down. I didn't want to be in a soap at first."

After leaving Walford, Leslie has toured in theatre for a decade. He's also cemented himself as a popular pantomime villain, and is currently filming for his role in crime movie Jack Southeast, where he plays a gangland boss.

But the actor has a passion for writing, and has just penned his first ever fantasy novel, Jack Bates And The Wizard's Spell. And although the book is being marketed as young adult fiction, he thinks it's a story that everyone will enjoy.

"I thought Harry Potter was a kids' book – I've never read it!" reveals Leslie. "But then I saw lots of adults reading it, so hopefully anyone will read mine. It's full of leprechauns, goblins, and everything magical and mystical. I spoke to a researcher who said she was really enjoying it, and there have been a couple of kids who have told me they can't wait for the second one. The publishers think it should be a series of three, so we'll see!"

Den's bad behaviour became more and more dangerous...

LOVE CHILD!
Sixteen-year-old Michelle Fowler refused to name the father when she gave birth to her daughter Vicki – and poor Pauline was mortified to discover it was sleazy Den who'd knocked up her little girl!

DARK CHRISTMAS!

Desperate Angie pretended she was dying to save her marriage in 1986, but Den stuck the knife in once he uncovered her lie – and served her divorce papers as a Christmas present!

DEAD – BUT NOT BURIED!

Den's dealings with the Firm came back to bite him when they decided he was a liability. They caught up with him by the canal and shot him 'dead' through a bunch of daffodils.

GRAVE RETURN!

Sharon was stunned as Den came back from the dead in 2003! He'd escaped after the canal shooting and gone to Spain, but he soon won Sharon's forgiveness – and re-established himself as head of the Watts clan.

DEAD – AND BURIED TWICE!

Den finally went too far when he seduced his son's girlfriend Zoe Slater and stole from Sam Mitchell. After they and his wife Chrissie sought revenge, Den ended up dead and buried under the Vic!

DON'T MISS!

SUSPECTS: THE ENEMY WITHIN | Channel 5 Weds

The team is rocked by the death of a colleague as the crime drama returns...

Personal effects

Semi-improvised crime drama Suspects returns to our screens this week on a very sombre note, as the team investigate the death of one of their own. DI Martha Bellamy has been killed in her home, and DS Jack Weston is the first on the scene after Martha's daughter Daisy contacts him in a state of terrible distress...

"This is kind of new and exciting territory for the show," explains Damien Molony, who plays Jack. "The golden rule of Suspects has been to stay out of these coppers' personal lives. But in this case, Jack gets a call from Martha's daughter, a very panicked, urgent call. Jack races over and finds Martha, his boss, dead.

"What's equally exciting about this new series is that we've moved on from the standalone procedural crime episodes," he continues. "Now this whole series is about figuring out who's done this to Martha."

Naturally, Martha's death means that new members need to be drafted into the team to solve the crime, so DCI Daniel Drummond (James Murray) is brought in to lead the investigation, along with his colleagues DS Alisha Brooks (Lenora Crichlow) and DC Gary Roscoe (Perry Fitzgerald). But it's not an easy transition for any of them to make.

"It's extraordinary circumstances," muses James. "Their much-liked boss, DI Bellamy, has been murdered. Daniel comes in and he knows that people are emotional, but in the same breath he realises the way it works is that as the clock marches on, you get further and further away from catching

"This series is all about figuring out who killed Martha" the murderer. Time is of the essence, and so he exerts his personality accordingly. Daniel has to be slightly patriarchal because without a leader, those emotions could get in the way of their skills."

"I don't think Alisha is there to win any popularity contests!" adds Lenora. "Although she has this wonderful ability to draw out what she needs from both suspects and victims. She has a level of objectivity and separation that I think filters into her relationships with her colleagues, too. I don't know that she particularly clashes with the team, but she doesn't really gel with them, either."

The quest to get justice for Martha leads to Jack and his colleague DC Charlie Steele acting slightly more rashly than we've come to expect – and there was some heightened emotion off-camera as well, as the actors missed having Fay Ripley, who played Martha, around.

Pushing up Daisy: Jack rushes to help Martha's daughter acts

"It's very odd – we've done 17 hours together, me, Damien and Fay," shares Clare-Hope Ashitey, who plays Charlie. "You just get so used to that dynamic and how everyone works, so it's been hard. It's like losing anyone at work, really – there's a comfort in someone being there and then suddenly they're not and the dynamic shifts. So it was hard, but I think that some kind of change needed to happen for the series to continue to have a life, and Fay's departure was the change that Suspects chose."

The fast pace of filming the series means a lot of hard work for the cast and crew – but they're all aware that they have it easier than their real-life counterparts.

"They've got a really difficult job," admits Perry. "Steve, our series police adviser, even said to me a few times, 'You'd make a good copper'. I said, 'I do like it, but I'm safe in the knowledge that the guy I'm chasing is played by an actor and not a real murderer, so I can enjoy it!'"

What do you mean you're NOT watching...

CHILD GENIUS | Channel 4 Tuesday

THIS SERIES REMAINS a subtle gem in Channel 4's schedule: while the quiz sections make for gripping TV, it's the bits in between that really hook us, when we get to see the children being children. The competition is so intense that seeing them enjoying their hobbies reassures us their entire lives aren't devoted to memorising facts or doing complicated sums. Also, adding Pointless' Richard Osman as the quizmaster this year was a shrewd move – he has an uncanny way of encouraging the young contestants while also putting them at ease. Well played, Mr Osman.

Actor Will Merrick picks his dream viewing...

I thought The Secret was brilliant – James Nesbitt is on fire at the moment. I've just watched the whole of Transparent on Amazon Prime with my girlfriend, too. That is a fantastic show – it's a really incredible exploration of what it is to be who you really are.

The Secret

and Lesley Manville playing nice people – they're always playing messed up, darker roles, so it's great to see them being warm!

I saw a great film recently called Mustang. It's Turkish, and it's about the coming of age of five sisters who begin to be dressed much more traditionally, and get married off to men they don't want to marry. It's about how in different communities around the world, women don't have the freedom that we take for granted. I'd recommend it to anyone.

I think Peaky Blinders is wicked.

The most recent series is better than the others, I think it's at its best right now. I reckon TV is really leading the chase at the moment – I'm so much more into watching a series than going to see a film. It's great to have things like House Of Cards that you can just go through episode after episode.

Mum on BBC2 was so good. I think that [writer] Stefan Golaszewski is a genius, I'd love to be in something that he's written. It's great to see Peter Mullan

I must have watched the whole of Arrested Development about four or five times. It's such an easy watch, but so clever, and the comedy is really layered, so you get lots of stuff that you missed the first time!

Medal of honour

TOM DALEY: DIVING FOR GOLD | ITV Saturday

The Summer Olympics in Rio begin this Friday, and all eyes are on Team GB – can we equal (or better) our haul of 65 medals from London 2012? After taking bronze in the men's 10m platform diving last time round, Tom Daley is hoping it could be his chance to win the gold he's always dreamed of, and this one-off documentary shines a light on what's been going on in Tom's life since 2012, both personally and professionally. Inside TV caught up with the diver to find out more...

Why did you want to make this film?

I think lots of people see athletes and the glamour of going out, winning medals and travelling to all these exotic places, but they don't see the struggle of what it takes to be at the top of your sport. For me, it was a massive thing to get back on the horse after 2012 because, while I had little time off, in that time I got to experience what it was like to be an 18-year-old – going out and drinking for the first time. So it was really tough to get back in the pool.

How close did you come to quitting?

I got close enough in saying that I had to take a break – I never said, "Oh, I'm done, I'm out". But it just got to the point with all the injury struggles, the issues I was having with my twisting dive... I just had so much in my head that I didn't know what to do. I started making the decisions about what Tom Daley reveals his hopes for Rio 2016 – and how close he came to quitting diving...

"You have to go in there wanting gold – my mentality is that they have to beat me"

I could do to get back the love and the passion for the sport of diving.

You started training with a new coach, Jane Figueiredo – how did that help?

In the diving world, she's such a prestigious coach – she coached her divers to the first ever synchronised diving gold medal in Sydney [in 2000] and has won numerous medals since. She's great. I don't know how she does it, but she says things in such a nice way that makes you want to work. She's the most motivating person you can imagine!

Will you be disappointed if you don't bring home a medal in Rio?

You ask anyone going to the Olympics, it's gutting if you don't win because you get one shot every four years – six dives, and if you mess up one of them, you're out. That's why the post-Olympics slump is hard, because you know you've got four years of work ahead of you to get another shot at doing it. But you have to go in there wanting gold – my mentality is to go into the competition thinking, 'They have to beat me', not 'I have to beat them'!

A big part of the programme deals with your coming out. Why did you decide to let the cameras cover that?

I've had documentary cameras following me since I was about nine years old, when the Olympic Dreams programme came out, and since then it's just been normal to have them around. I was incredibly lucky to have the experience where my mum and all my friends and family were so kind and supportive of me, but lots of others around the world don't have the same experience – and the fact that I receive messages saying that it's helped so many people is just overwhelming.

Out for the Count:
We'd expect a bit of Cattiness from this trio!

Take a letter

We enter the 'Catsdown' world with Susie Dent...

8 OUT OF 10 CATS DOES COUNTDOWN | Channel 4 Friday

When Channel 4 aired their mash-up evening in 2012 and blended 8 Out of 10 Cats and Countdown, it was only meant to be a bit of fun – but it's still going strong four years later.

"It's a wonderful surprise," Dictionary Corner stalwart Susie Dent tells us. "We were one of lots of programmes in that mash-up night where presenters swapped around on different shows, and Catsdown – as Rachel Riley and I call it – was one that really seemed to click with the audience."

Clearly something about the quiet letters-and-numbers quizzing of Countdown mixed with the quick-witted irreverent tone of 8 Out of 10 Cats makes sense, and Susie reckons that the show's unpredictability keeps her on her toes during filming.

"The thing about Catsdown is that Rachel and I have no idea what's coming, whether it's a Jimmy Carr barb or an acrobat dancing on the desk," she admits. "Our faces ache from laughter by the end of the night."

Fans of obscure words know that Susie posts them on Twitter – offering an insight into her day.

"They're usually a reflection of my mood, from hurkle-durking [staying in bed longer than you should] to dromomania [longing to travel]," she laughs. "My favourite recent rediscovery is perfect for Mondays: dysania, the inability to get out of bed. You may detect a theme here!"

What the celebs have been telling
Inside TV this week...

"I LOVED THE WHOLE GET-UP – THE WIG, THE CORSET. I THINK I LOOK LIKE NANNY MCPHEE – I JUST NEED A MOLE!"

The Secret Agent star Vicky McClure was a big fan of her period costume and paraphernalia

"I MADE IT ABSOLUTELY, CATEGORICALLY CLEAR FROM THE BEGINNING THAT I WAS NOT TAKING MY CLOTHES OFF."

Naked Attraction host Anna Richardson had no intention whatsoever of appearing in the buff

"I THINK PEOPLE IN ESSEX NEED TO INVEST IN MORE THINGS, BUT ALL THEY'RE DOING IS WALKING THE DOG AND CHATTING RUBBISH."

Businessman and TOWIE star Tommy Mallet reckons that some people have their priorities all wrong

"I HATE QUEUING – IT REALLY ANNOYS ME. YOU COULD SPEND YOUR LIFE IN QUEUES AT THE POST OFFICE OR WHEREVER!"

IN THE BEGINNING...

Doctor Thorne star Stefanie Martini has been cast as young Jane Tennison in ITV's Prime Suspect prequel Tennison. The Inbetweeners' Blake Harrison and New Tricks' Alun Armstrong will also star in the six-part drama.

A REAL GEM

John Thomson and Sarah Hadland are to appear in an adaptation of classic mystery The Moonstone for BBC1 Daytime later this year. The story concerns the theft of a priceless diamond and the complex quest to find the culprit and recover the precious stone.

SNOW JOKE!

Rumours of its demise have been greatly exaggerated... It's been confirmed that Channel 4's celebrity winter sports show The Jump will be returning for a fourth series. Davina McCall will be hosting once more – but which celebs will be braving the slopes?

BRITAIN'S FAVOURITE SUPERHERO

Channel 4 7.30pm

You might have noticed that superheroes are big business right now: The Flash, the Green Arrow and Supergirl (among others) have got their own TV shows, and in cinemas this year we've already seen Batman fighting Superman and Captain America clashing with Iron Man. With loads more superhero films planned for release, Channel 4 have carried out a poll to find out which of these crusaders is the best-loved among Brits.

This one-off special will reveal the results while exploring why so many of us have come to love these big-screen spectaculars. Superman raised the bar in 1978 with unprecedented special effects, while X-Men and Christopher Nolan's Batman trilogy tapped into a darker side that appealed to a new audience.

1966: A NATION REMEMBERS

ITV 9pm

Let's all agree not to discuss England's disastrous Euro 2016 performance (well done Wales, though!) and instead focus on happier times: 1966, when England hosted – and won – the World Cup. This documentary talks to those who witnessed events, including students in charge of the Wembley scoreboard, and a Derbyshire mum who watched the West German team train in her town.

SPOOKS

Drama 9pm

It's generally a good idea for spies to avoid the limelight, so they don't tend to mix with celebs that much. In tonight's episode, however, rock star Riff (played by Lord Of The Rings star Andy Serkis) and his supermodel wife B request Section D's help when their young son is kidnapped. To ensure every angle is covered, Fiona goes undercover to befriend B, but Adam grows concerned about her behaviour. Will she be able to get the information the rest of the team need?

ROYAL PAINS

Universal 5pm

A new season of the medical drama commences tonight with Boris completing his purchase of Hamptons Heritage – but who does he have in mind to run it? Meanwhile, Hank treats a visiting TV personality.

BECK

BBC4 9pm

Beck and the team look into the deaths of two girls who were hit by a train in tonight's instalment of the Swedish drama. They must establish whether the girls made a suicide pact, or whether they were in fact murdered.

Up in the air

FLYING TO THE ENDS OF THE EARTH

Channel 4 8pm

This may not be the ideal series to watch if you're planning to jet off on your summer holidays imminently, but it's still a prime pick for anyone with even a passing interest in aviation. Ex-royal marine Arthur Williams, who's now a private pilot, will be flying off to some of the world's smallest, most unsafe airstrips, and getting to know the people who live in their surroundings.

Tonight he's off to Siberia, where he'll first be flying over a giant open diamond mine in the town of Mirny, and meets some of the local miners. He then heads to the Oymyakon region – the coldest inhabited place on the planet – for an expedition to a frozen lake, but the trip takes a disastrous turn when a helicopter carrying some of the production crew makes a crash landing.

Home truths

THE SECRET AGENT

BBC1 9pm

Verloc has to face the music with Winnie in tonight's concluding episode, and does his best to make a case to justify his recent actions – but will she ever forgive him for getting Stevie involved in his secret double life? Let's just say the early signs aren't looking terribly positive. Meanwhile, the home secretary is determined to make an example of Verloc in order to discourage other people from becoming spies.

Cher and Cher-alike

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS

ITV 9pm

After her encounter with Gary last week, Steph's deeply shaken: her confidence is in tatters, and she's disappointed with herself for not following the safety guidelines. Terry thinks that she should give up her job (hasn't he always, though?), but Steph reluctantly agrees to help Nita out with a party for her aunt, only to flee in a panic when Nita's Uncle Howard answers the door. This finally allows Steph to pour out her worries to Nita, and she resolves to report the incident to the police – until she finds out that Terry has already "dealt with it"...

Meanwhile, Dawn's got a new Cher-inspired hairdo as a surprise for Russell, but there's a shock in store for the bride-to-be, when she goes back to her old flat to pick up some things and ends up in a fight with her dad.

Battle lines

THE MUSKETEERS

BBC1 9pm

The second of two episodes this week brings the series to a close – and it's time for the climactic battle we've all been waiting for, as Grimaud declares war on the Musketeers, with those nearest and dearest to them directly in his crosshairs. Our heroes are driven to the brink when they fight to protect Paris from Grimaud's dark intentions – but do they have the strength left to defeat him?

MADE IN CHELSEA: SOUTH OF FRANCE

E4 9pm

The Chelsea set are off on their travels once again, this time heading to Cannes, and as we've come to expect from past jaunts overseas, all the drama of SW3 will be following them. Upon arrival, Jamie wonders if he's really that keen for Frankie to join him, while Stephanie wants to clear the air with Tiff. Elsewhere, Ollie is hoping to find a handsome Frenchman for a holiday romance, and the boys try to set up Louise with local artist Lukas.

TYRANT

Fox 9pm

The political thriller returns for a third season tonight, and after the attempted assassination of Jamal, Barry is now the interim President of Abuddin. But will he be able to bring democracy to the troubled nation?

THE GIRL FROM IPANEMA: BRAZIL, BOSSA NOVA AND THE BEACH

BBC4 9pm

Katie Derham heads to Rio – not for a head start on the Olympics, but to get to the heart of one of the city's most famous songs, 1960s mega-hit The Girl From Ipanema.

BORDERLINE

Channel 5 10pm

Welcome to Northend Airport, home to one of the most skilled and dedicated teams of UK Border Agency staff – or at least, that's what chief inspector Linda Proctor would like us all to believe. The reality, as this new six-part mockumentary demonstrates, is very different.

We join them as Proctor briefs her staff on the latest guidelines laid down by the Home Office (The Three Os, for "out of the ordinary") as to who they should be detaining at the airport, until one of her staff points out that what she's asking them to do essentially amounts to racial profiling. Meanwhile, agent Tariq Mansoor has an awkward moment when he realises a recent arrival being questioned by one of his colleagues for drug possession is in fact an old mate of his from the DJing circuit.

INSIDE THE FACTORY

BBC2 8pm

The British eat around half a billion crisps every day (in fact, the process of writing Inside TV each week is around 70 per cent crisp-fuelled), and tonight Gregg Wallace and Cherry Healey reveal what it takes to produce them. Gregg heads to the Walker's crisp factory in Leicester to find out how they develop their flavours, while Cherry gets to discover how Monster Munch are made.

BRADLEY WIGGINS: THE ROAD TO RIO

Sky1 9pm

Cyclist Bradley has a great track record (if you'll excuse the pun) by anyone's standards, with a Tour de France win to his name and seven Olympic medals – including four golds. Winning another medal in Rio in 2016 would give Bradley more than any other British athlete, which is a difficult challenge to resist. This documentary charts his preparations for what he anticipates will be his final Olympics, as well as his career highs and lows.

Missing memories

LONG LOST FAMILY

ITV 9pm

Tonight's two stories of agonised separation are guaranteed to tug at your heartstrings. First, 70-year-old Susan Webb reveals what led her to place her daughter Samantha in foster care: Samantha's father wasn't willing to support her, and Susan's brother had died in a road accident, so she didn't feel her family could cope with a baby. After Samantha was adopted, Susan became depressed and underwent electro-convulsive therapy, which affected her long-term memory and eroded the little time that she and Samantha had together, and Susan is desperate to see her daughter again.

The other tale comes from Sonia, whose search for her birth mother also results in a meeting with her long-lost brother John (above).

VERSAILLES

BBC2 9pm

There's an uncomfortable family reunion tonight for Henriette when she comes face to face with her brother, Charles II of England. She's unsure whether she has the diplomatic skills required to broker a treaty between England and France, but she has a secret weapon at her disposal. Back in France, Marchal is dealing with the traitor, or so he thinks – the real traitor strikes behind his back.

JANE THE VIRGIN

E4 8pm

It's Mother's Day, and the Villanueva women have big plans to celebrate together. Unfortunately, it doesn't look like Jane will be a part of them, because Petra invites her to a Mother's Day brunch instead. That's not the only drama facing Jane, when her teaching assistant role comes under threat. Meanwhile, tensions on the set of Rogelio's telenovela are heightened when he films a crossover with the series Fernando E Isabel, starring his nemesis Esteban Santiago.

BOY MEETS GIRL

BBC2 10pm

Joining The Musketeers in the 'two episodes airing this week' club, Boy Meets Girl is also wrapping up its current series tonight. It's the evening before Leo and Judy's wedding, and both the Macdonald and Arkley families are having a (relatively) quiet night in to prepare for the big day. That is until Judy discovers that the boiler has packed in, leaving her without any heating or hot water. Pam invites her over for the night – but gets Peggy and Jackie as well, whether she likes it or not.

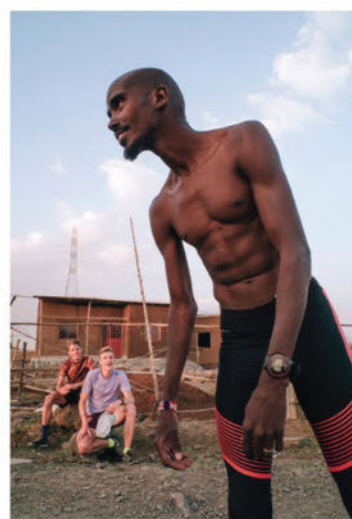

This leaves the Macdonald household a little overcrowded, and it looks as though nobody's going to be getting much sleep, but there's still time for Pam to share a maternal moment with Leo as she prepares to step down from the role of the most important woman in his life...

MO FARAH: RACE OF HIS LIFE

BBC1 9pm

Alongside Tom Daley and Bradley Wiggins, Mo Farah also gets a film dedicated to the build-up to his competition at Rio 2016 this week. This documentary follows the long-distance runner over the course of a year, as he attends training camps in Africa and the USA, visits his childhood home of Djibouti, and tries to balance his hectic training schedule with an equally busy family life.

QUANTICO

Alibi 9pm

The frequently confusing, occasionally frustrating, but always gripping thriller wraps up its first season tonight. After last week's big twist, it's clear who framed Alex for the bomb at Grand Central Station (and for those of you who haven't seen it yet, we'll keep that to ourselves). We see how the culprit pulled it off, while Alex and her colleagues are on the trail of the wrong person (again). But when Ryan unearths a critical clue, Alex finally realises who set her up...

FRIDAY NIGHT DINNER

Channel 4 10pm

Jackie's excited this week, as Adam's won an award for the jingle he wrote for shaving foam. Sure, Martin happens to think the trophy – a giant ear on legs – looks a bit like a tumour (and Grandma thinks it looks like an ovary), but it's an award, and that's the important thing. Unfortunately for Adam, his thunder is stolen when Jonny returns from a stag do in Las Vegas with his new wife, Lisa.

To say Jackie takes the news that her son got married without telling her quite badly is a bit of an understatement – she chucks everyone out of the house and even summons Aunt Val round for reinforcement – but once Jonny apologises for the hurried nuptials she tries to get to know her new daughter-in-law. The trouble is, even Jonny doesn't seem to know her that well...

RIO 2016

BBC1 8.30pm

And here we go – for the next two-and-a-bit weeks, the world will be watching Rio as each nation's best athletes descend on the Brazilian city to prove themselves against their rivals from around the world. Clare Balding presents a preview of the 2016 Summer Games with a few ex Olympians for company, and then we return at 11:35pm for live coverage of the opening ceremony.

Our guide to a week
of entertainment!

Seven DAYS

Go on, treat yourself!

1 SATURDAY DVD

SUPERGIRL - THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON

Meet superhero Kara Zor-El (Melissa Benoist) as she takes to the skies to protect the world from aliens in this action-packed series. After years of hiding her phenomenal powers, she embraces her superhuman abilities to become the hero she was always destined to be.

WIN!

For the chance to win a copy, tell us which show Kara Tointon was in: A) Holly, B) Hollyoaks, or C) EastEnders. Text ISPRIZE1, a space, then A, B, or C and your name & address to 87080 (50p). Or see below for postal entries.

3 MONDAY DVD

RECKLESS

When Sam Ellis' (Patrick Wilson) one-time experience with an escort turns into an addiction, his moral compass begins to falter. In this thriller about a good man turned bad, will Sam's new demon destroy his life? Also starring Ray Winstone.

WIN!

For the chance to win a copy, tell us who Ray Meagher plays in Home and Away: A) John, B) Zac, or C) Alf. Text ISPRIZE3, a space, then A, B, or C and your name & address to 87080 (50p). Or see below for postal entries.

4 TUESDAY DVD

POLICE STORY: LOCKDOWN

Jackie Chan delivers the drama in this slick, stylish, action-packed crime saga. When police captain Zhong Wen is held hostage inside a nightclub, he makes it his personal mission to get revenge over the owner and his gang of armed thugs.

WIN!

For the chance to win a copy, tell us who in Neighbours Jackie Woodburne plays: A) Sheila, B) Susan, or C) Terese. Text ISPRIZE4, a space, then A, B, or C and your name & address to 87080 (50p). Or see below for postal entries.

5 WEDNESDAY Book

DEAD TO ME by Lesley Pearse

When Ruby and Verity meet by chance, their worlds couldn't be further apart. But as the girls find their situations reversed, their relationship remains steadfast through thick and thin. That's until Ruby sends Verity a simple note saying, 'You're dead to me'. Is their friendship over?

WIN!

For the chance to win a copy, tell us who wed their Dales co-star Lesley Dunlop: A) Chris Chittell, B) Bill Ward, or C) Joe Gill. Text ISPRIZE5, a space, then A, B, or C and your name & address to 87080 (50p). Or see below for postal entries.

6 THURSDAY Theatre

HARRY POTTER AND THE CURSED CHILD: PARTS ONE AND TWO

This new story by JK Rowling picks up 19 years after the last Harry Potter book left off. Harry is now a husband and a father of three, grappling with a past that refuses to stay where it belongs. The show is currently booking till 27 May 2017 - for information and tickets, log on to www.harrypottertheplay.com

7 FRIDAY Cinema

SUICIDE SQUAD

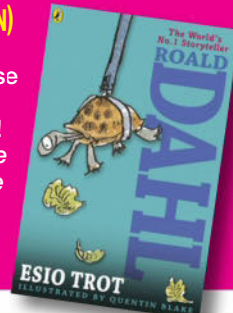

With the world at threat from an immensely powerful and remorseless entity, a group of unhinged super-villains are given a chance at redemption - but only if they are able to defeat the undefeatable enemy. Featuring an all-star cast, including Jared Leto, Will Smith and ex-Neighbours star Margot Robbie (Donna Freedman).

My favourite... BOOK!

EASTENDERS' JAMES BYE (MARTIN)
"I'm reading a lot of Roald Dahl at the moment because of my little boy [Edward] - I'm really getting into them! I'm reading Charlie And The Chocolate Factory and The BFG. I also read Esio Trot to him, as I'd never read that - and he loved it."

Lines close midnight 8 August 2016, and three working days later for postal entries. BY POST Send answers to Inside Soap 30, 33 Broadwick Street, London W1F 0DQ. Please include your name and address. BY TEXT Texts cost 50p, plus your usual network operator rate. Please send your contact details along with your answer. If you text your entry after the advertised closing date, you will not be entered, but you may be charged. Winners will be selected at random after the close date. Service provider: Spoke, customer care line 0333 202 3390 Data protection: Depending on your contact details, Hearst Magazines UK may mail, email, SMS or phone you with offers, products and services reflecting your preferences. SOAP'S DOUBLE DOOMSDAY

What a tragic few days it's been! First Corrie's Kylie was stabbed to death, then EastEnders' Paul was killed too! I've spent most of my week blubbing – and I'm not the only one traumatised...

Paul's death was a real shock. I honestly thought the hospital had made a mistake, and the thief who stole Ben's phone was the one who died. But now I realise Paul had to die to give a reason for him and Ben to break up after actor Jonny Labey [Paul] left.
Zoe, via email

I didn't like Kylie when she was first in Corrie, but over the years I've really warmed to her, and she was one of my favourite characters. So I'm devastated she's been killed off! The scenes where David was cradling her lifeless body were truly heartbreaking, and I had to remind myself they were only acting! Well done to stars Paula Lane [Kylie] and Jack P Shepherd [David] for their realistic performances.

Lynda, via email

Those scenes of blood-soaked Kylie dying in the arms of anguished husband David will be remembered for many years. But I'm really not impressed with the response time of the Weatherfield ambulance service!

Lesley, Walsall

And that's not the only thing that's angered viewers...

I know the soaps like to hit us with these shock murders from time to time, but I feel thoroughly depressed now. Two major deaths within the space of a few days is too much – it's a good job I'm off on holiday next week, as I need a break!

Annette, London
Don't forget to take a copy of Inside Soap to read on the beach!

David was both off his trolley and in one at the same time

GROOMY OUTLOOK

I'm beginning to wonder if Emmerdale's David is losing his mind. He's in the middle of serious chemo treatment, and he's wasting all this time proposing to Tracy every day! Is he addicted to weddings? It's only been five minutes since his ex-wife Alicia left.

Jean, via email

I reckon it's a secret plot to keep Leyla in business.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

I was very upset by the scene in Emmerdale where Tracy's middle name was revealed to be Sharon, and everyone thought that it was a big joke. Tracy and Sharon are perfectly nice names! I've had enough of this with Birds Of A Feather.
Tracy Sharon Brown, via email
You're lucky. I have a friend called Kat Slater. People laugh and never believe her!

RANT! RAVE! We love to hear your opinions. Here's how to get in touch...

Peri and Nico have been anything but 'fetch' in their treatment of Jade

PLASTIC FANTASTIC

This probably makes me sound like a horrible person, but I'm really enjoying watching Nico and Peri team up in Hollyoaks to torment Jade. While I do feel sorry for Jade – and of course, cancer is no laughing matter – I just think bitchy Nico and Peri are brilliant as the 'Mean Girls' of Hollyoaks High!

Eva, Kingston

I can't imagine Nico ever wearing pink, though – not even on a Wednesday.

DUMB & DUMBER

Bless Lee in EastEnders – he's not exactly the sharpest tool in the box, is he? The number of hints Whitney was dropping about being pregnant – the actual bun in the oven was my favourite – and he still didn't figure it out! Let's hope the baby doesn't inherit his brains.

Nell, via email

I'm not sure Whit's IQ is that much higher, to be honest.

SHE'S MAD TO LEAVE

I'm really disappointed that Maddy has left Home and Away – not that she was particularly a favourite character of mine, but

CONTINUED OVER»

Hopefully Maddy will find a quieter life away from the Bay!

Request SPOT

NO COMFORT

I'm sure I recognised the detective who was dealing with the investigation into Paul's death in EastEnders. What else has she been in?

Mark, London

The actress in question is Martina Laird, and she played paramedic Comfort Jones in Casualty between 2001 and 2006.

She was also recently in ITV's Jericho.

"You look worse than some of my patients"

The manner of Kylie's death would have resonated with Gail

CRYIN' OVER BRIAN

After Kylie died in Corrie, both Gail and Nick mentioned Nick's dad being killed in a similar way. Remind me what happened?

Jasmine, via email

Brian Tilsley – who was Nick and Sarah's dad, and Gail's first husband – was stabbed to death outside a nightclub in 1989, while defending a woman from some thugs. So Kylie's tragic death must have brought back some bad memories for poor Gail...

YOUR TRICKIEST SOAP QUERIES ANSWERED...

BEYOND HIS YEARS

Exactly how old is VJ in Home and Away meant to be? I can clearly remember him being born, and he looks a lot older than I believe him to be!

Lucy, Felixstowe

VJ is supposed to be 17 on screen – although as he was born in November 2001, he should really only be 14! As is often the case with the Aussie soaps, Home and Away has aged the lad by a few years to suit their plots.

VJ doesn't look a day over 25!

I was really looking forward to seeing her storyline unfold after she had her arm amputated. It's the first time any soap has done this storyline – with an arm, at least – but it feels as if they've taken the easy way out.

teenager, and all those traumas you go through on a day-to-day basis! I do think Piper was a bit of a selfish cow though – I don't blame Xanthe for wanting to ditch her as a best friend.

Melissa, Stevenage

Something tells me the girls will soon make up, though!

LOVE YOU, FREDDIE!

My favourite new character in soaps (though he's not so new now, I guess) is Freddie in Coronation Street. He's so kind and loveable, and a far better match for Audrey than stuffy old Ken. I've loved actor Derek Griffiths since I was a little girl watching Play School and Heads And Tails – I even have his album! It's really good to have him in Weatherfield, and I hope that he's there for a long time yet.

Flo, Wakefield

Sounds like Aud has some competition from you, Flo!

SOAP shorts...

"I just cannot take Lawrence in Emmerdale seriously. The way he shouts, 'I'm not gay!' just creases me up," chuckles Sonia from London...

"I sense that Elly is going to cause havoc on Ramsay Street – I love her already!" gushes Olivia from Rugby... "Johnny Connor doesn't want to mess with Jenny Bradley!" warns Alex from London. (Oh yes, she'll probably end up dangling him from a balcony!)"

ARIES 21 MARCH – 20 APRIL

You've been finding it difficult to concentrate lately, with your mind occupied by the many things going on in your life. This week, you'll be handed the chance to take a break from it all and clear your head.

TAURUS 21 APRIL – 21 MAY

You've come a long way with a personal project – and now it's time to enjoy the fruits of your labour. This week, keep an eye out for a sign that will inspire you to begin planning for your next big goal.

GEMINI 22 MAY – 21 JUNE

A recent holiday or trip away has filled you with wanderlust. Although you've been trying to keep your spending down, this week you might be tempted into getting away just one more time this year.

CANCER 22 JUNE – 23 JULY

Take heed of Corrie's Bethany and get yourself down to the gym in order to shake off some of life's most pressing issues. You will feel invincible – and ready to take on the world. Go get 'em!

LEO 24 JULY – 23 AUGUST

Just like the Square's Denise this week, you'll find yourself drawn towards someone who could cause trouble between you and a pal! Be cautious if you choose to see where your mutual attraction goes.

VIRGO 24 AUG – 23 SEPT

Been thinking about making a change? Moving house or taking on a new challenge at work, perhaps? This week, those plans might hit a snag, and it could be time to reassess your future.

LIBRA 24 SEPT – 23 OCT

Surprises aren't really your thing, but there may be one in store for you this week. It'll only be something positive, though, so don't fret – just enjoy the fact that someone has gone the extra mile!

SCORPIO 24 OCT – 22 NOV

Now we've had a hint of summer, your love of the outdoors is back – and you've made all sorts of plans to take advantage of the warmer temperatures. This week, someone special has a plan for you.

SAGITTARIUS 23 NOV – 21 DEC

Social media can be good for many things, but the endless pictures of your pals on holiday might be getting you down this week. Take it with a pinch of salt, though – you've plenty to appreciate at home.

CAPRICORN 22 DEC – 20 JAN

Cain and Moira might be having a hard time of it in the Dales – but things are looking good for you and your love life. Whether it's with someone new or a person you know, you could be on to a winner this time.

AQUARIUS 21 JAN – 19 FEB

You'll receive an unexpected compliment this week, and it will go a long way towards boosting your confidence. Try to build on that and adopt a positive mindset – plenty more good things are on the way!

PISCES 20 FEB – 20 MAR

Take a leaf out of Nathan's book in Hollyoaks this week, and when the moment takes you, go for exactly what you want! You'll be given the ideal opportunity, so don't waste it...

HITS & MISSES!

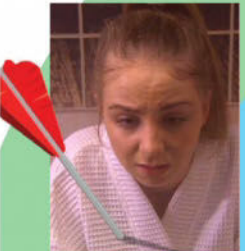

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY - AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK

It was impossible not to cheer as the supercilious grin was once again wiped from Rakesh's face. We're not ones to gloat, but ha-hardy-ha-haa!

On hearing news of Kylie, Sarah gave her best-yet 'Oh God, why didn't I just stay in Milan?' face.

"This is completely mad!" wailed hallucinating Belle, as she was locked in a sauna by a vision of her former cellmate - who then offered her an imaginary baby. Belle's subconscious is great at dreaming up cool soap storylines.

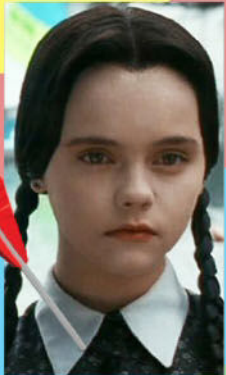

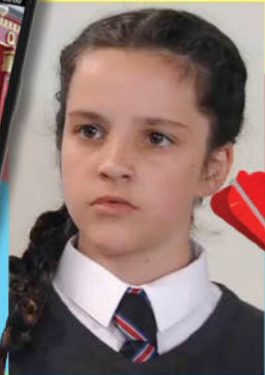

Steve: "For me, it was any port in a storm!"
Leanne: "It wasn't exactly my finest hour either!"
Ah... romance!

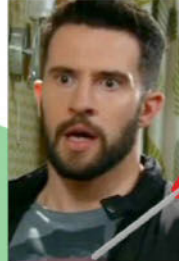

There was a definite lack of realism in the soaps this week. Absolutely nobody was playing Pokémon Go.

BULLSEYE!

Big soap deaths claim the headlines, but the real story is that of the people left behind, and the mourning after. This week, we shed hot tears at Pam and Les Coker's wretched, harrowing grief, so exquisitely portrayed by Lin Blakley and Roger Sloman. Elsewhere, David Platt's lament to the corpse of his wife ("Come back... please...") left us in pieces.

To complete the look, we think the child of terrible Tracy Barlow should go for the full double-pigtail.

Ross Barton is the rudest, surliest taxi driver of all time. But you'd forgive him everything if he popped up in your front hall, ready for a ride.

Belinda wants to call her new salon 'Elysium'. It means 'place of perfect happiness'. So surely 'Elysium, Walford' is history's greatest ever contradiction in terms.

In Will Mitchell's version of the Coker family tragedy, everyone - including the deceased - seems much more upbeat about it.

The four people we're most pleased are not the secret father of Leanne's baby.
